Controller of Patents and Designs.

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

The book has been published by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and copies are now procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There are two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and a very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited, and a considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Government Printing, India, Calcutta.

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA

CALCUTTA, DECEMBER 24, 1915

Final General Memorandum on the INDIGO Crop of 1915-16

This memorandum is based upon reports received from provinces containing practically the whole area under indigo in British India. The figures refer to the crop which is now being marketed.

The total area (314,300 acres) is 112 per cent in excess of the finally revised acreage (148,400) of last year.

The total yield of dye is estimated at 39,900 cwts against 25,200 cwts, the revised estimate of last year, or an increase of 58 per cent. The average outturn per acre, however, works out to 14 lbs as against 19 lbs in the preceding year.

The increase in area is due to high prices of indigo on account of the war. The price of middle ordinary violet to good indigo in London at the end of November, 1914 and 1915, was 12*s.* to 13*s.* per lb as against 2*s.* 8*d.* in the corresponding period of 1913, the year before the outbreak of war. The season has not, on the whole, been favourable for the crop, except in Madras, where the crop is generally reported to have done well except in the Circars. In the United Provinces, although the season was not unfavourable, there was a scarcity of reliable seed for sowing. In Madras also much indifferent seed was sown owing to the exceptionally high prices of seed at sowing time.

The figures for the provinces are :—

Province	Estimated total yield		Acreage		Average yield per acre
	1915-16	1914-15	1915-16	1914-15	1915-16	1914-15
	cwts	cwts			lbs	lbs
Bihar and Orissa .	7,100	5,500	60,800	38,500	13	16
Madras . . .	24,700	13,600	182,800	71,700	15	28
Punjab . . .	3,000	3,400	20,600	20,400	16	17
United Provinces .	4,000	1,500	42,300	12,300	11	14
Bombay and Sind (including Native States) . .	900	1,000	6,200	4,200	16	27
Bengal . . .	200	200	1,600	1,300	14	17
Total .	39,900	25,200	314,300	148,400	14	19

In addition to the area for which particulars are given above, the crop is grown on a very limited scale in Upper Burma, for which no forecast is prepared, and the average area so grown for the last five years has been some 200 acres. On the basis of the average outturn per acre in other provinces, this area would produce about 25 cwts of dye.

The provincial reports are summarised below :—

Bihar and Orissa (38·7 per cent of the total area under indigo in British India).—The total area sown is estimated at 60,800 acres as against 38,500 acres for last year, or an increase of 58 per cent. The increase is attributed to the phenomenal rise in the price of indigo on account of the war. The total yield is estimated at 7,100 cwts as against 5,500 cwts finally reported last year. The trade estimate of the Bihar indigo crop is stated to be 6,000 cwts. Owing to the failure of rains during September, 1914, there was not sufficient moisture in the land in the North Bihar districts for securing both the Java and Sumatrana crops. The floods towards the end of August, 1915, and also the poor quality of much of the seed obtained from upcountry for the Sumatrana crop, have affected the outturn. The weather conditions during manufacture were also not generally favourable.

Madras (31·2 per cent of the total area under indigo in British India).—The total area sown with the indigo crop is now reported to be 182,800 acres, which is two and a half times the actual area sown in 1914-15 and about twice the normal area. After allowing for seed and to some extent for loss of weight due to moisture, the total yield is estimated at 24,700 cwts, which is 82 per cent above the estimate (13,600 cwts) of last year. The crop is generally reported to have done very well throughout except in the Circars. At sowing time seed was selling at exceptionally high rates, and as a result much indifferent seed was sown; also many old vats have been put into temporary repair. High yields of dye of good quality are thus unlikely.

Punjab (15·4 per cent of the total area under indigo in British India).—The total area under indigo is reported to be 20,600 acres, which is only 200 acres more than the area sown last year. The gross outturn of seed is estimated to amount to 1,692,100 seers (=31,100 cwts) and of dye 164,100 seers (=3,000 cwts); the former is about 222 per cent in excess and the latter is about 12 per cent in defect of the last year's outturn. The season was not favourable on the whole and the outturn was consequently below normal, very much so in the eastern Punjab. Much more of the crop is being kept for seed for next year than is usual. It is reported from two districts in the eastern Punjab that the whole crop is being kept for seed and that no dye is being made.

United Provinces (12·4 per cent of the total area under indigo in British India).—The total area is now reported to be 42,300 acres as against 12,300 acres, the revised area for last year, or an increase of 244 per cent. The total yield is estimated at 4,000 cwts, being about 167 per cent in excess of last year's estimate. Although the season was not unfavourable, yet difficulty was experienced in procuring reliable seed, and germination was poor in places. Some portion of the dye is consumed locally, and thus the amount available for the Calcutta market will be somewhat less than the estimated outturn stated above.

Bombay and Sind (1·8 per cent of the total area under indigo in British India).—The total area sown is now estimated at 6,200 acres (including 2,400 acres for the Khairpur State), which is 48 per cent in excess of the area of last year. The extended cultivation is attributed to the incentive afforded by the high prices realised since the outbreak of war. The yield, however, is estimated at only 900 cwts, as against 1,000 cwts last year. The crop suffered somewhat from the deficiency of water supply.

Bengal (0·5 per cent of the total area under indigo in British India).—The total area and outturn are 1,600 acres and 200 cwts, as compared with 1,300 acres and 200 cwts last year.

The chart below illustrates the variations in the present figures of area and yield as compared with the finally revised figures of the last nine years. The figures of area are in thousands of acres and those of yield in thousands of cwts.

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA

CALCUTTA, DECEMBER 29, 1915

First WHEAT Forecast, 1915-16.

This forecast is based on reports received from the local authorities, and refers to 98·5 per cent of the total wheat acreage of India. The statistics below cover all the important wheat-growing areas, except Indore and Bhopal in Central India and six States of comparatively small importance in Rajputana. The figures set out in this report generally represent the area sown up to the end of November, and therefore do not include all the areas that will be ultimately sown with wheat, since sowings continue after November.

The total area so far reported amounts to 27,604,000 acres as against 28,852,000 acres the revised figure for the same tracts on the corresponding date of last year, or a decrease of 1,248,000 acres or 4 per cent.

The sowing season has, on the whole, been quite favourable, except in the western and south-eastern Punjab, the western districts of the United Provinces, in Gujarat, Sind, and in parts of the North-West Frontier Province and Rajputana. In these tracts the rainfall was deficient. The present condition and prospects of the crop are reported to be, on the whole, from fair to good, but rain is urgently required in the Punjab and in the western districts of the United Provinces. The rain which fell in parts of these tracts on the 15th December, must, however, have benefited the crop.

The detailed figures for the provinces are :—

(d) For fourteen States.

The provincial reports are summarised below :—

Punjab (32·5 per cent of the total area under wheat in India).—The total area sown up to the end of November is estimated at 9,509,000 acres (including 1,119,000 acres in Native States), which is 8 per cent below the revised estimate at this time last year and 16 per cent below the total actual area of 1914-15. It may be noted, however, that the estimate at this time last year did not include half the area under mixed wheat and gram and wheat and barley, which are included in the present forecast. The principal decreases are in Hissar 51 per cent, Shahpur 38 per cent, Rohtak 36 per cent, Lyallpur, Jhang and Multan 32 per cent each, and Mianwali and Montgomery 24 per cent each; while the largest increases occur in the districts of Hoshiarpur 30 per cent, Jullundar 23 per cent, and Lahore 15 per cent. Sowings were in progress in most districts at the date of report (18th December). In July and August the monsoon was much less active than usual and never penetrated in full strength into the Punjab, with the result that the rainfall was scanty and occurred merely as sporadic showers at long intervals. The first 13 days of September experienced a spell of unusually dry weather, after which there were two well defined periods of rainfall; one from 14th to 18th and the other from 24th to 29th of the month. During these periods the monsoon current extended over the greater part of the Punjab, and the resulting rainfall was sufficient for the sowing of the rabi (spring) crop, except in parts of the south-east and west of the province, where the rain was slight and insufficient. Useful showers were also received in the first week of October in most districts, but the remainder of the month and the whole of November were entirely rainless. Water in inundation canals was short and river floods were low. Sowings began in normal time everywhere, and germination has been good, considering that the land got less preliminary cultivation than usual during the summer owing to the absence of rain. The prospects are, on the whole, average on irrigated area and somewhat below average on unirrigated area; rain was at the time of report urgently required everywhere for the unirrigated crop, which showed signs of withering in some districts of the Lahore and Rawalpindi divisions. The crop will doubtless have benefited by the rain that fell on December 15th in parts of the province. But it was not heavy and details as to its distribution are not yet available.

United Provinces (23·3 per cent of the total area under wheat in India).—The total area sown is estimated at 7,500,000 acres, which is about 1 per cent in excess of the estimate made at this time last year. Except in the Agra and parts of the Meerut divisions, there was ample moisture for sowing the wheat crop. In some parts of the eastern submontane districts, which had been subjected to heavy flooding in September, sowings were delayed on account of excessive moisture in the soil; elsewhere they commenced at the usual time. The month of November was practically rainless, but tanks were unusually full over the greater part of the provinces, and irrigation from them is actively proceeding. The crop has got a good start but rain is now needed in the western districts. This relates to the condition of the crop up to the 17th December.

Central Provinces and Berar (11·6 per cent of the total area under wheat in India).—The total area is now estimated at 3,398,000 acres (including 119,000 acres in the Native States of Khairagarh and Nandgaon), as against 3,511,000 acres, the revised estimate at this time last year, or a decrease of 3 per cent. The decline in the northern districts is generally due to a shortage of seed and to some degree to the extension of jawar cultivation consequent on last year's excellent crop. In the southern districts and in Berar, there should be a fair increase owing partly to high prices of wheat and to low prices of cotton and partly to a fairly plentiful supply of seed. Sowings began late practically in all the important wheat-growing districts, owing to the monsoon lasting longer than usual. The monsoon rainfall was favourable throughout the provinces. The continuous and excessive rainfall in the last week of September and the first fortnight of October further improved the seed-bed. This was followed by a most opportune break. Light showers were, however, received in a few districts in the last week of November. Sowings were generally successful and germination on the whole good. Some resowing was necessary in parts of Nagpur, Chanda, and Raipur, owing to defective germination. In the first two districts the seed was not good and in Raipur heavy rain soon after sowing interfered with the growth of the plants. Some of the plants are withering in Nimar owing to clouds. The weather is now clear and cool and the condition of the young plants is all that could be desired, and prospects are favourable.

Bombay and Sind (7·7 per cent of the total area under wheat in India).—The information is up to the 5th December and is incomplete as sowings continued at that date. The total estimated area so far sown in British districts and Native States is 2,140,000 acres (553,000 acres being in Native States including Baroda), which is about 5 per cent above the corresponding estimate of last year. In Gujarat short rainfall considerably restricted sowings except in the more favoured localities and where irrigation facilities were available. General sowings commenced two to three weeks later than usual and still continue in places. The condition of crop is fair in north and good in south. In the Deccan and Karnatak plentiful late rains and expectation of high prices induced extended sowings, and lands not sown with cotton were utilised for wheat. The dry crop was sown seasonably and the wet crop a fortnight to a month later. The crop is progressing well everywhere. In Sind low inundation of the year and deficient rainfall curtailed the area under wheat everywhere except in Thar and Parkar, where sowings extended under stimulus of high prices. The condition of the crop is fair in the south and satisfactory in the north of Sind. Sowings were made in the first fortnight of November as usual.

Bihar and Orissa (4·3 per cent of the total area under wheat in India).—The total area sown up to the 18th December is reported to be 1,138,000 acres, which is about 4 per cent less than the area estimated at this time last year. In September the rainfall was general, the fall being above the normal in Saran, Champaran, Cuttack, Balasore, Angul, Sambalpur, and Ranchi, and below the normal in the remaining districts. In October the rainfall was about the normal in all the districts. In November it was above the normal in all the districts except Champaran, the coast districts of Orissa having received excessive amounts. Sowings began in normal time except in parts of Tirhut, where it was late owing to excessive moisture in the soil on account of rain and floods. The present condition of the crop is reported to be generally good in Bihar, but fair in Chota Nagpur and Orissa.

North-West Frontier Province (3·4 per cent of the total area under wheat in India).—The total area sown up to the end of November is estimated at 824,000 acres (251,000 acres being irrigated) as against 1,029,000 acres at this time last year, or a decrease of 20 per cent. The decrease is confined chiefly to the unirrigated areas and occurs principally in the Kohat, Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan districts, owing to the failure of rain at the sowing time. The stoppage of the Paharpur Canal from the 9th October, 1915, is also partly responsible for the decrease in Dera Ismail Khan. If the winter rains set in early or even before the middle of January next, considerable further sowings may be expected on the unirrigated lands. The condition of the irrigated crop is so far generally fair, but that of the unirrigated crop poor in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan owing to drought. In Hazara the condition of the crop as a whole is also reported to be below the average. It must be emphasized, however, that the ultimate success of the wheat harvest depends on the winter rains now looked for. Sowings commenced at the usual time except in Kohat where they were somewhat early.

Bengal (0·5 per cent of the total area under wheat in India).—The total area sown amounts to 135,000 acres as against 133,000 acres estimated at this time last year. There was sufficient rainfall both in September and October for the sowings of the crop, which were generally commenced at the normal time. The character of the season has been on the whole favourable and the general outlook is so far hopeful.

Ajmer-Merwara (0·1 per cent of the total area under wheat in India).—The area sown is estimated at 12,000 acres as compared with 16,000 acres reported at this time last year. The present condition and prospects of the crop are reported to be good.

Central India (8·8 per cent of the total area under wheat in India).—No estimate of the area sown has been furnished by Indore and Bhopal. Excluding these, the total area so far reported amounts to 1,762,000 acres as against 1,787,000 acres reported for the same tracts at this time last year. The condition of the crop is reported to be good. Sowings commenced as usual from the middle of October in Gwalior, and between then and the beginning of November elsewhere, except in Malwa and Indore where it was a little later than usual. In Indore the second inspection of fields has not yet commenced, and consequently no detailed information is available. Bhopal, which reported 899,789 acres this time last year, has not yet been able to furnish estimates of acreage for this season 1915-16. Sowings are still in progress in Gwalior and Baghelkhand. The details are as follows:—

	1915-16 acres	1914-15 acres
Gwalior . . .	1,119,500	1,117,900
Bundelkhand . .	272,700	264,400

Malwa	85,900	123,900
Southern States . .	155,400	154,700

Rajputana (3·2 per cent of the total area under wheat in India).—The total area sown in the fourteen States which have furnished estimates is 286,000 acres as against 426,000 acres reported by these States at this time last year, or a decrease of 33 per cent. Sowing generally commenced in the normal time except in Jaipur, Bharatpur, Dholpur, and Alwar, where it was delayed owing to scanty rainfall. Sowing is still continuing in Jaipur and Dungarpur. The condition of the crop is reported to be good in Partabgarh, Banswara, Marwar, Sirohi, Dholpur,

Kotah, and Jhalawar, and fair elsewhere. Detailed figures for the States which have furnished estimates are as follows :—

	1915-16 acres	1914-15 acres
Bundi	35,802	80,000
Tonk	97,210	96,833
Kishangarh	683	2,221

Jhalawar	7,947	13,429
Shahpura	2,015	2,412
Total (a)	285,722	426,155

The area finally returned for the whole of Rajputana last year was 904,000 acres.

Hyderabad (3·1 per cent of the total area under wheat in India).—Sowings of the crop generally commenced at the usual time, i.e., in the month of October, and the crop is thriving. Full particulars have not yet been obtained with regard to the area sown, but judging from the fact that the season is a favourable one, as it was last year, the area may be placed at the same figure as last year, namely, 898,000 acres.

Mysore (0·01 per cent of the total area under wheat in India).—The total area is estimated at 2,000 acres, which is the same as returned at the corresponding forecast of last year. The condition of the crop is generally reported to be fair.

The chart below shows the preliminary estimates of acreage and the final estimates for the last few years for the whole of India.

NOTE.—The curve for 1915-16 takes into account previous year's figure for Bhopal.

(a) Excludes the States of Jaipur, Banswara, Partabgarh, Sirohi, Kotah and Mewar, which do not furnish estimates of acreage at this stage.

Wheat crop in Foreign Countries. The latest available information published in November by the International Institute of Agriculture, Rome, is as follows :—

In France October was in general a good month and the weather mostly favourable to agricultural work. Sowing and preparatory work are proceeding everywhere with all possible speed. In England and Wales, autumn cultivation is in many districts not so far forward as usual, ploughing having been delayed by the hardness of the ground and also, in many cases, by the shortage of labour. In other districts, more especially in the south-eastern and northern counties, good progress has been made, and a fair proportion of the wheat sown. In Australia the area sown this year is roughly estimated at 11,495,000 acres and the yield at 3,822,000 tons as against 666,000 tons in 1914-15. In Canada the area under winter wheat sown in 1915 is 1,100,000 acres, which is 15 per cent below the corresponding area in 1914. Heavy rains have made sowing of winter wheat difficult in Ontario. The final figure of area sown with wheat in the Argentine in 1915-16 is 16,413,000 acres as against 15,465,000 acres in 1914-15.

From unofficial sources it appears that in the Argentine the total crop is reported to be 5,357,000 tons as against 4,500,000 tons last year. According to the general opinion of firms engaged in the grain trade, there will be a surplus of 2,946,000 tons of Argentine wheat for export. It is also reported that the wheat harvest will be generally late, and it is certain that the northern harvest is belated. The total yield in Canada is estimated at 9,000,000 tons as against 4,286,000 tons last year. The monthly Crop Reporter, issued by the Department of Agriculture, United States of America, on October 16, 1915, estimated the combined winter and spring wheat in the United States of America at 26,839,000 tons (a record crop) as against 23,866,000 tons last year. It is, however, reported that a crop of 2,571,000 tons was damaged by rain at harvest time. The surplus available for export from Australia is estimated at 2,143,000 tons. The condition of the new winter crop in Russia is reported to be generally good, except in the southern regions, where the sowings have been unfavourably affected by a long period of dry weather. Recently the fields have received a good snow cover, which extends practically throughout the country with the exception of the southern regions. In Italy the weather in the southern regions is reported to be very stormy and unfavourable, but otherwise the autumn has been seasonable and favourable for putting in the new crop.

The figures of estimated outturn so far received from the different countries are noted below :—

	1915-16 tons	1914-15 tons
United States	26,839,000	23,866,000
Canada	9,000,000	4,286,000

Argentine	5,357,000	4,500,000

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA

CALCUTTA, JANUARY 4, 1916

First Forecast WINTER OILSEEDS (Rape, Mustard, and Linseed), 1915-16.

This memorandum is based upon reports received from those provinces where rape, mustard, and linseed are grown to any considerable extent. These provinces contain 99·2 per cent of the total area under rape and mustard in British India, and 98·9 per cent of the total linseed area in British India. Of the Native States, estimates are furnished by Hyderabad and the Native States in the Bombay Presidency (including Baroda). No report is made by any other Native State.

The weather conditions have, on the whole, been favourable, and the prospects of the crops are fair to good. Rain is, however, urgently required in the Punjab and in the western districts of the United Provinces.

The total estimated area under rape and mustard reported up to date is 3,560,400 acres (excluding the mixed crop of the United Provinces, for which no estimate is made at this stage). This is 6 per cent below the area at this time last year.

The detailed figures for provinces are :—

The following is a summary of the provincial reports in respect of each crop :—

(i) RAPE AND MUSTARD.

United Provinces (40·2 per cent of the total area under rape and mustard in British India).—The area sown with the unmixed crop is roughly estimated at 188,000 acres, which is 30 per cent above the area estimated at this date last year. No estimate of the area under rape and mustard sown interspersed with other crops is made at this time of year.† Moisture in the soil was generally ample when sowings began early in October. Germination has been good, and prospects are up to the date of report favourable. An early fall of rain is required in the western districts. This relates to conditions up to the 17th December.

Bengal (21·1 per cent of the total area under rape and mustard in British India).—The area sown is estimated at 1,292,700 acres, which is 1 per cent below the area reported at this date last year. The most noticeable decrease is in Dacca, due to heavy floods. The rainfall in September and October, though defective, was general throughout the province. Consequently sufficient moisture was left in the soil, which helped the sowings to a great extent. Good showers received in the third week of November generally favoured the growth of the crops. The season has been, on the whole, favourable, and the present condition of the crops is reported to be fairly good.

Punjab (18·1 per cent of the total area under rape and mustard in British India).—The area sown up to the end of November is estimated at 799,500 acres, which is 15 per cent below the revised area at this date last year. The character of the season has been only fairly favourable for sowings. The rain that fell at the end of September was rather late for the sowing of rabi (winter) oilseeds. This combined with the anticipated restriction in the export demand for foreign countries and abnormally low prices led to the decrease in the area. The heavy decreases are in Rawalpindi (72 per cent), Jhang (60 per cent), Mianwali (52 per cent), and Dera Ghazi Khan (38 per cent), which were partly set off by increases in Karnal (378 per cent), Hoshiarpur (147 per cent), Ludhiana (101 per cent), and Gujrat (116 per cent). The reaping of toria (an early variety of rapeseed) is in progress. Other oilseeds have germinated well, and prospects are generally fair except in the unirrigated areas of certain districts which need rain badly. Some of them will have benefited by the rain that fell on the 15th December; but exact information as to its distribution is not yet available.

Bihar and Orissa (17·4 per cent of the total area under rape and mustard in British India).—The area sown is at present estimated at 705,400 acres, which is 6 per cent above the area reported at the corresponding date last year. In September the rainfall was general, the fall being above normal in Saran, Champaran, Cuttack, Balasore, Angul, Sambalpur, and Ranchi, but below normal in the remaining districts. In October the rainfall was about normal in all districts. In November it was above normal in all the districts except Champaran, the coast districts of Orissa receiving excessive amounts of rain. Sowings began in the province as a whole at the usual time except in parts of Tirhut where they were late on account of the heavy huthiya rain. The present condition of the crop is reported to be fair to good.

Assam (4·8 per cent of the total area under rape and mustard in British India).—The area sown is estimated at 322,000 acres, an increase of 8 per cent over the area returned at this date last year. The increases in Sylhet, Goalpara, Kamrup, Darrang, Sibsagar, and Lakhimpur are largely due to the early subsidence of floods and favourable weather at the time of sowing. In Sylhet and Darrang the damage done by floods to the winter rice crop stimulated the cultivation of mustard. There was, however, a decrease in area in the Garo Hills and Nowgong due to the late subsidence of floods. The weather was generally good at the time of sowing; since then it has been unfavourable to the growth of the crop in a good many districts. In October and November all the districts had less than the normal rainfall. The average outturn per acre is at present estimated at 82 per cent of the normal as against 87 per cent last year.

Bombay and Sind (2 per cent of the total area under rape and mustard in British India).—The estimates are up to the 5th December, and the information now available is incomplete. The total area so far sown is reported to be 201,500 acres (43,700 acres being in Native States), which is 35 per cent below the area at the corresponding date last year. The decrease is attributed to low inundation and insufficient rains in Sind and to want of sufficient moisture in the Gujarat States. The crop is doing well in the Hyderabad and Upper Sind Frontier districts. Elsewhere the condition of the crop is only fair.

North-West Frontier Province (1·6 per cent of the total area under rape and mustard in British India).—The total area sown up to the end of November is estimated at 45,000 acres (irrigated area being 11,100 acres), which is 61 per cent short of last year's area at this date. The decrease in area is almost entirely confined to unirrigated land, and the area sown on unirrigated land is about three-fourths of the total acreage sown. The contraction of 61 per cent in area for the province as a whole is said to be due to the scarcity of rainfall. The contraction of sowings is mainly noticeable in the Dera Ismail Khan, Peshawar, and Hazara districts, where there have been decreases of 38,700, 22,000 and 8,000 acres, respectively. The decrease in Dera Ismail Khan is due to want of rain and to the stoppage of the Paharpur Canal from 9th October 1915, while in Peshawar and Hazara it is attributed to general drought and to want of sufficient rain at sowing time. The prospects of the crop are generally fair at present on the irrigated lands, but poor in the unirrigated areas in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan. In Hazara the condition of the crop is reported to be below the average.

Hyderabad reports 6,300 acres under mustard as compared with 7,200 acres at this date last year.

(ii) LINSEED.

Central Provinces and Berar (37·6 per cent of the total area under linseed in British India).—The total area sown is estimated at 1,198,800 acres, being 8 per cent above the area estimated at this date last year. In all the important linseed-growing districts of the Nagpur and Chhattisgarh divisions, except Wardha and Nagpur, a fairly substantial increase in the area is anticipated, owing to favourable conditions at sowing time. In Wardha and Nagpur the decrease is attributed to unfavourable seasonal conditions and to the fall in prices. Germination was generally good, and no re-sowings were necessary except in parts of Chanda where the plants were uprooted on low-lying lands owing to heavy rains. Prospects at present are generally good everywhere.

United Provinces (32 per cent of the total area under linseed in British India).—The area under the unmixed crop is roughly estimated at 300,000 acres, being 48 per cent above the area estimated at this date last year. No estimate of the area under linseed sown interspersed with other crops is made at this time of the season.* Moisture in the soil was generally ample when sowings began. Germination has been good, and prospects are so far favourable. An early fall of rain is required in the western districts. Some increase is anticipated in the area in those parts of the provinces where linseed follows the rice crop when sufficient moisture remains in the soil.

Bihar and Orissa (17·1 per cent of the total area under linseed in British India).—The total area under the crop is estimated at 640,200 acres, which is 10 per cent in excess of the area at this date last year. The character of the season and the prospects of the crop are the same as described above under "rape and mustard".

Bengal (5·9 per cent of the total area under linseed in British India).—The area under the crop is now estimated at 182,800 acres, being 3 per cent below the area reported at the corresponding date last year. The character of the season and the prospects of sowings are the same as described above under "rape and mustard".

Bombay (5·1 per cent of the total area under linseed in British India).—Estimates are made up to the 5th December, and at that date the information as to sowings was incomplete. The total area so far sown is estimated at 97,200 acres (12,800 acres being in Native States), which is 16 per cent in excess of the area at the corresponding date last year. The crop was sown seasonably in October under favourable late rains. The area has largely extended in Ahmednagar and Bijapur where lands usually sown with cotton were utilised for the oilseed. The crop is reported to be generally doing well everywhere.

Punjab (1·2 per cent of the total area under linseed in British India).—The area sown up to the end of November is estimated at 47,200 acres, being 21 per cent above the revised area at this date last year. The condition and prospects of sowings are the same as described above under "rape and mustard".

Hyderabad.—The total area under the crop is estimated at 239,500 acres, which is 6 per cent below the area at this date last year. The character of the season is reported to be favourable The outturn is estimated at 72 per cent of the normal, as against 70 per cent in the previous year.

* The area under linseed sown interspersed with other crops, such as, gram, barley, etc., is given in the final forecast published in June.

Oilseed crops in foreign countries.—The latest information published in November by the International Institute of Agriculture, Rome, shows that in the Argentine the final estimate of the area sown with linseed is 3,999,000 acres as against 4,256,000 acres last year, a decrease of 6 per cent. His Majesty's Commercial Attaché at Petrograd notifies that in Russia, according to reports published in the Torg. Prom. Gazeta (Petrograd) of 1st—14th October, the linseed crop is uneven, but in general not below the average. In the south and south-west, the yield is fully satisfactory. Winter rape-seed is in general an average crop, and mustard seed fully satisfactory. As regards quality, the oilseed crops of European Russia are, in general, fully satisfactory. In the north-east, north-west, and in parts of the south-west, however, the seed is often light in weight. In the central Volga region, and in places in the midlands, it is in general small, and, owing to excess of rain during the gathering-in time, often damp and spoilt. From unofficial sources it would appear that in Canada the preliminary estimate of this season's linseed crop is about 300,000 tons.

CALCUTTA, DECEMBER 29, 1915

Second RICE Forecast, 1915-16

This forecast is based on reports received from provinces which contain 99 per cent of the total area under rice in British India. It refers practically to the whole crop (early and late) in all the reporting provinces, with the exception of the late (spring) rice of Bombay, which is insignificant, amounting to about 15,000 acres. The reports relate to conditions up to the 1st December.

The total area so far reported amounts to 76,027,000 acres, as compared with 75,214,000 acres (the revised figure) at this date last year, or an increase of 1 per cent. As compared with the area reported in the final forecast of last year (76,181,000 acres), the present estimate falls short by 154,000 acres only.

The season has, especially in regard to the winter or aman rice crop in Bengal, been favourable. In Assam and the Bombay Presidency, however, the prospects have been less favourable: in Assam the crop suffered through floods and insects, and in Bombay, through deficient rainfall.

The figures for the provinces are given below:—

The provincial reports are summarised below:—

Bengal (26·7 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The area sown with autumn (aus) rice is reported to be 5,436,000 acres as against 4,990,000 acres last year, or an increase of 9 per cent. The increase in the area this year is due to a corresponding decrease in jute cultivation. The season, on the whole, was not quite favourable for the growth of the crop. The weather at sowing time was rather too dry in Western Bengal. It was favourable in Eastern Bengal, but excessive rain and floods later on interrupted the growth of the crop, especially in the Dacca and Chittagong divisions. For the province, as a whole, the average outturn per acre for autumn (aus) rice is estimated at 83 per cent of the normal; and on this basis the gross yield of cleaned rice works out to 1,657,000 tons, as against 1,448,000 tons last year, or an increase of 14 per cent.

The area under winter (aman) rice is estimated at 15,105,000 acres, which is 0·2 per cent in excess of the area reported at this time last year. Good rain fell throughout the province during the month of September. This enabled further transplantation of paddy seedlings. The falling-off in the total acreage figure shown in the first forecast was thus made up to a large extent. Heavy floods in parts of the Dacca and Chittagong divisions resulted in damage to the crop on low lands. On high lands, however, a bumper crop is expected. This will in some measure compensate for the low outturn in the flood-affected areas. In October the rainfall was rather excessive in the Chittagong division, but was moderate and evenly distributed in the rest of the province. The season, on the whole, is regarded as fairly satisfactory. The average outturn per acre for winter rice for the province is at present estimated at 96 per cent of the normal, as against 81 per cent last year. On this basis the gross yield is estimated at 6,392,000 tons, which is about 19 per cent over the corresponding estimate of last year.

An area of 375,000 acres was reported in March last to be under summer (boro) rice with an estimated yield of 160,000 tons as against 376,000 acres and 175,000 tons in the preceding year.

Bihar and Orissa (21·9 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The area under autumn rice is reported to be 3,780,000 acres as against 3,718,000 acres, the revised area of last year, or an increase of nearly 2 per cent. As reported in the first forecast, the heavy rain and subsequent high floods towards the end of August in Saran, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, and Monghyr, damaged the crop in parts of these districts. In Orissa and Chota Nagpur the rainfall from June to August was somewhat defective. The rainfall in September and October, however, benefited the crop and improved prospects. The average outturn for the province for autumn rice is estimated at 88 per cent of the normal, as against 85 per cent this time last year. On this basis the total yield is calculated at 1,222,000 tons as against 1,161,000 tons, the revised estimate of last year, or an increase of 5 per cent.

The area under winter rice is now estimated at 12,296,000 acres, as against 12,373,000 acres estimated at this time last year, or a decrease of 0·6 per cent. The heavy downpour of rain towards the end of August caused high floods in the Tirhut division and in Monghyr and Bhagalpur, which damaged the crop in parts of these districts, especially in Muzaffarpur. Retransplantation was done in parts of the flood-affected areas. In Orissa and Chota Nagpur, the rainfall was deficient from June to August, and transplantation was retarded in many places. The rainfall was, however, fairly distributed and the crop suffered only in a few places, especially in parts of Manbhum and Singhbhum. The good rainfall in September and October materially benefited the crop throughout the province and improved prospects greatly. In November the rainfall was above the normal in most districts, the coast districts of Orissa having received very heavy amounts. It is stated that the average outturn per acre of winter rice will not fall far short of normal (i.e., 100 per cent). On this basis the total yield is estimated at 6,775,000 tons as against 5,113,000 tons estimated at this date last year, or an increase of 32 per cent.

An area of 40,000 acres was reported in March last to be under summer rice with an estimated outturn of 12,000 tons, as against 53,000 acres and 19,000 tons last year.

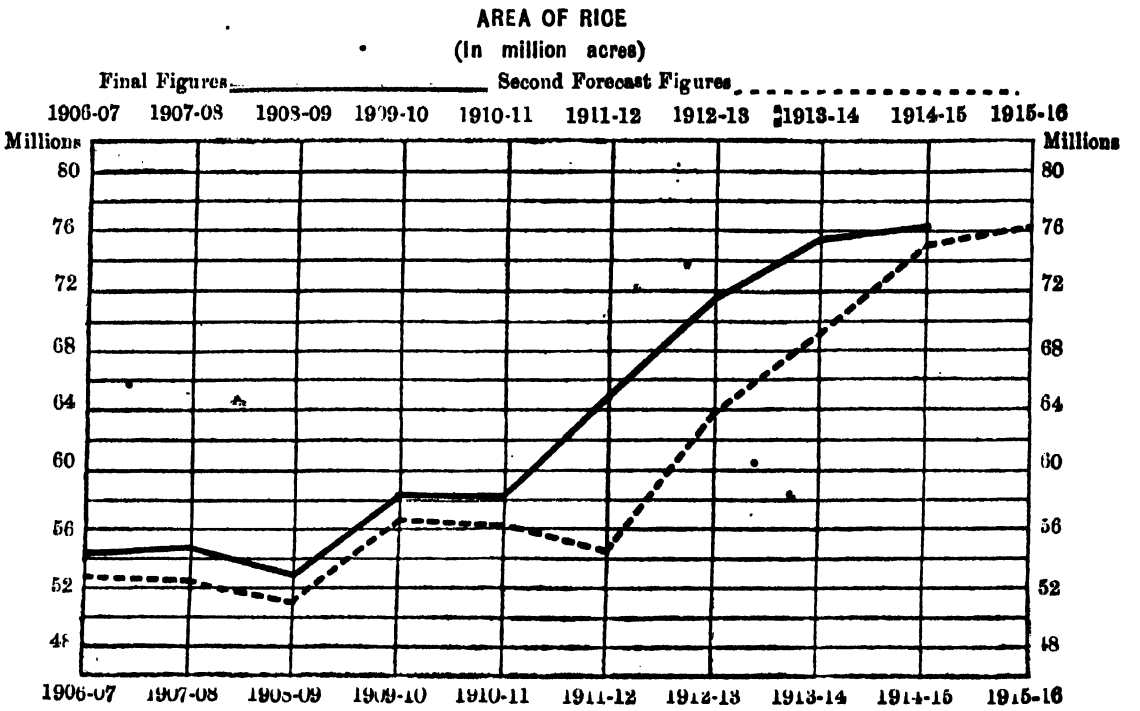
Madras (13·6 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The total area sown with rice in the Presidency up to the 1st December is estimated at 10,226,000 acres, which is 5 per cent in excess of the area reported at this date last year. The increase has been general in all parts except the Carnatic, where sowings were delayed owing to the late arrival of the north-east monsoon rains. No serious damage has been reported from any tract, and the yield is generally expected to be in advance of that of last year. The average outturn is at present estimated at 85 per cent of the normal.

Burma (13 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The total area sown is reported to be 10,069,000 acres, as against 10,020,000 acres reported at this time last year. In Lower Burma the rains were early and generally favourable. A smaller area (220,000 acres) has this year been destroyed by floods than last year (400,000 acres). In the dry zone of Upper Burma, the season opened with promise but long breaks in the monsoon caused considerable destruction of the rice crop, where the area was not protected by some means of irrigation. In the wet zone of Upper Burma the crop promises well. For the province as a whole the average yield per acre is estimated at 94 per cent of the normal, as against 83 per cent this time last year, and the total yield at 6,734,500 tons of unhusked rice (=about 4,500,000 tons of cleaned rice), which is 14 per cent larger than the estimate made at this date last year. The surplus available for export is expected to be 3,622,500 tons of unhusked rice, equivalent to 2,850,000 tons of cargo rice or 2,412,500 tons of cleaned rice.

United Provinces (7·8 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The total area under rice amounts to 6,358,000 acres, compared with 6,215,000 acres estimated at this time last year, showing an increase of 2 per cent. During August and September the rainfall was abnormally heavy in the eastern and central parts of the province, and seriously damaged the crop in lowlying areas. During the first week of October again there was heavy rain for the time of the year in the eastern districts and parts of the Allahabad and Jhansi divisions. The rain was very valuable for the late rice, which has been unusually good. For the province as a whole, the yield of early rice is estimated at 90 per cent of the normal and that of late rice at normal, i.e., 100 per cent.

Central Provinces and Berar (6·3 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The total area placed under rice is reported to be 5,097,000 acres as against 5,083,000 acres last year. Sowings were made under favourable conditions, but a break seriously interrupted transplanting operations and insects caused a little damage in Chattisgarh. Subsequently, however, heavy rainfall assisted in completing transplanting operations and though the crop was distinctly late, the excellent rain in September and the beginning of October immensely benefited the plants. Seasonal conditions on the whole were favourable for rice. The average yield per acre is estimated at 117 per cent of the normal (=624 lbs. per acre). The total yield is estimated at 1,693,000 tons, which is 2 per cent above the estimate of last year.

Assam (5·9 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The area sown with autumn rice is reported to be 729,000 acres as against 725,000 acres last year. As reported in the first forecast in October, the earlier part of the season was generally unfavourable. The prospects of the autumn crop were further adversely affected in most districts by the heavy rainfall in July and August and by the damage caused by insect pests in the Surma Valley. The average outturn per acre is estimated at 67 per cent of the normal (=6 cwts per acre), and the total yield at 146,000 tons, which is 15 per cent less than the estimate of last year.



The area under winter rice is estimated at 3,104,000 acres, which is 7 per cent above the estimate made at this time last year. Since the first forecast was issued, weather conditions have been, on the whole, favourable. Deposits of silt at the time of the floods in July much benefited the transplanted crop over the affected parts of the Surma Valley, while moderate rain in September and October was very favourable to the growth of the crop in all districts. The average outturn per acre is at present estimated at 76 per cent of the normal (normal =9 cwt per acre), as against 87 per cent this time last year, and the total yield at 1,061,000 tons, which is 7 per cent less than the estimate at this time last year.

An area of 220,000 acres was reported in March last to be under summer rice with an estimated yield of 99,000 tons, as against 216,000 acres and 97,000 tons last year.

Bombay (2·3 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The total area is reported to be 2,150,000 acres (603,000 acres being in Native States), which is 18 per cent less than the revised area of last year. In North Gujarat rain was practically absent and the crop withered except in places where it could be helped by irrigation. In South Gujarat it suffered through the deficiency of rain. In the Deccan, and in the Belgaum district and the Kolhapur State in the Karnatak, the crop generally throve well; elsewhere in the Karnatak it suffered through the deficiency of rain in the middle of the season. In the Konkan the crop suffered through prolonged break in August and September in parts of Ratnagiri and Kanara and in north Thana. Elsewhere the condition of the crop was fairly satisfactory. The total yield is reported to be 992,000 tons as against 1,388,000 tons, the revised estimate of last year, or a decrease of 28 per cent.

Sind (1·4 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The total area is estimated at 1,042,000 acres (7,000 acres being in the Khairpur State), as against 1,117,000 acres, the revised area of last year. There was good water supply in the Upper Sind Frontier district where the condition of the crop is reported to be good, but elsewhere it is only fair due to low inundation. The total yield is reported to be 380,000 tons, as against 406,000 tons, the revised estimate for last year.

The chart below shows the variations in the 2nd forecast estimates as compared with those in the final figures for the last nine years. It should, however, be borne in mind that the large increases from 1911-12 to 1913-14 are due to a considerable extent to the addition of reporting tracts from year to year.

Rice crop in foreign countries.—From the latest information published in November by the International Institute of Agriculture, Rome, it appears that in Japan the total area under rice is estimated at 7,559,000 acres and the yield at 9,893,000 tons, as against 7,431,000 acres and 10,125,000 tons last year. In a report dated October 4, 1915, the Commercial Attaché to His Majesty's Embassy, Yokohama, says :—" According to the second official estimate of the Rice crop, published in the official Gazette, the estimated crop is 55,701,025 koku (about 7,400,000 tons), which is a reduction of 1,985,500 koku or 3·4 per cent as compared with the figure given in the first forecast. Again, it is a reduction of 1,305,183 koku or 2·2 per cent as compared with the actual result of harvests last year, though still it is 4,388,672 koku or 8½ per cent above the normal figure. The decrease reported in the present forecast as compared with the first forecast is explained as due to the visits of typhoons (after the publication of the last forecast) to Shikoku, Sanyodo, Kyushu, and other parts." In the United States of America the total area and yield are estimated at 815,000 acres and 526,000 tons as against 693,000 acres and 474,000 tons last year. In Italy the estimates are 361,000 acres, the same as in the previous year, and 521,000 tons as against 535,000 tons last year. In Egypt the total area is estimated at 331,000 acres as against 37,000 acres last year ; the weather has been favourable and water supply sufficient.

From unofficial sources, it appears that in Korea the crop is estimated at 1,572,000 tons as against 1,689,000 tons last year. In Formosa the total crop of the year is estimated at 694,000 tons.

KING'S POLICE MEDAL.

NOTIFICATION.

(POLICE.)

Delhi, the 1st January 1916.

No. 1-C.—His Majesty the KING, EMPEROR OF INDIA, has been pleased to confer the King's Police Medal on the following officers and men of the Indian Police establishments :—

MADRAS.

Name of officer and rank.	Statement of services for which in particular the decoration has been conferred.
1. Richard Howard Hitchcock, Superintendent of Police.	A serious outbreak of crime began in the South Malabar District in December 1914, and culminated in a fanatical outbreak on the part of a gang of Mappillas. Mr. Hitchcock made careful and continuous enquiries, established signalling parties to disseminate information, and kept a close watch on dangerous and suspected criminals. When the final outburst came he had his forces ready to meet it, and by his promptness and resource put a speedy end to it. Mr. Innes, the Collector of the District, was ambushed on the 27th February between Pandikad and Karuvarakundu; Mr. Hitchcock was on the spot at once, searched for the gang of fanatics, obtained information of their movements the next day, encircled them with his forces on the 1st March, planned the attack on the temple in which they had taken up their stand, and stormed it, killing three of the fanatics and wounding two. His measures stopped the outbreak and prevented any dangerous developments of the situation. This is believed to be the first outbreak of this nature which has been quelled by the police unaided by the military.
2. Leslie Withinshaw, Officiating Superintendent of Police.	During the Mohurrum of 1914 at Gudur in the Kurnool District, trouble being anticipated between the Muhammadans and the Katris, owing to long-standing enmity, Mr. Withinshaw was on the spot during the dangerous days of the festival. On the 30th November three Muhammadans approached him saying that the Katris were going to do puja in their temple and there might be trouble. Mr. Withinshaw went to the spot, and finding some 70 Muhammadans round the temple, tried to induce them to disperse. They refused and when the bell in the Katri temple rang, began an attack upon the temple and endeavoured to beat the Katris in it. Mr. Withinshaw interposed himself between the parties, and while pulling two Muhammadans out of the temple, was assaulted from behind, receiving injuries on his head and shoulder. He seized a lathi from a Muhammadan and drove away the rioters to the end of the street. There they stopped and were re-inforced and began to hurl large stones and make rushes at Mr. Withinshaw, but recoiled on coming within striking distance of his lathi. Mr. Withinshaw thus kept the mob at bay till the arrival of a party of the Reserve which, after firing on the mob and wounding several of its members, forced it to disperse. That there was not serious injury to life and property was due entirely to Mr. Withinshaw interposing himself and keeping the mob at bay, despite the injuries he had received, until assistance arrived.

Name of officer and rank.	Statement of services for which in particular the decoration has been conferred.
3. Lakshmana Rao, probationary sub-inspector of police.	During the riot at Gudur in the Kurnool District in 1914, when the Superintendent of Police was facing an infuriated mob alone, this sub-inspector, then a head constable, went to the assistance of his superior officer and supported him in keeping the mob at bay until the arrival of reinforcements. Despite showers of stones and the rushes of the mob the sub-inspector refused to take shelter until specifically ordered to do so by his Superintendent and though severely injured displayed great bravery.
4. Ellati Valiagatti Amu, sub-inspector of police.	During the recent fanatical outbreak amongst the Mappillas of the South Malabar District, sub-inspector Amu, himself a Mappilla, rendered valuable assistance to his Superintendent and displayed great bravery. He was the first person to obtain definite information of the movements of the gang of fanatics; he followed them up and actually got into conversation with them, and discovered the place where they intended making their stand. With the aid of a small party of constables he watched their stronghold during the night of the 28th February till reinforcements arrived the next day. He then approached the temple in which they had barricaded themselves and endeavoured to persuade the fanatics to surrender. He warned them that they would be shot, but the men who had taken possession of the upper room of the temple gate-house replied defiantly and invited Amu to send for his force. Amu then posted guards and sent an urgent message to the Superintendent of Police, who was in search of the fanatics. Amu was present throughout the action which resulted in the destruction of the fanatics. It was largely owing to the courage and presence of mind of the sub-inspector that the law-breakers were so quickly traced and the outbreak ended.
5. John Moore, Superintendent of Police.	On the outbreak of the war there was a movement among certain Christian "Gurus" and leading Naiks of the Koraput Agency to oust the British, the belief obtaining that Germany would win the war and that there was no need to obey the British Government any longer. Mr. Moore had early information of the movement and kept the Agent to the Governor fully informed about it. The first overt sign came with an attack on two constables and this was followed by an assault on a sub-inspector; but the effective steps taken by Mr. Moore to meet the outbreak and the promptitude with which he brought the state of affairs to notice prevented the affair from assuming serious proportions.
6. Jack Elliott, Assistant Superintendent of Police.	Mr. Elliott did excellent work during the recent Mappilla outbreak in the South Malabar District. On hearing of the outbreak he at once proceeded to the disturbed area alone. With a party of special police he took part in the search for the fanatics on the 27th and 28th February in the neighbourhood of Karuvarakundu, and on the 1st March, having received news of the movements of the gang, he marched to Alanallur where the gang was located and surrounded. On the morning of the 2nd March, Mr. Elliott moved out with a party of picked shots before daylight and in the rain took up a well-chosen position under cover on the north side of the temple in which the fanatics had decided to make their stand. Thence the fire of the party was brought to bear on the temple, and two of the gang who ventured outside the temple were killed by it. Mr. Elliott worked with great energy and the speedy termination of the outbreak was due in some part to his getting the men of the special police under him speedily to the scene of action.

MADRAS—concld.

Name of officer and rank.	Statement of services for which in particular the decoration has been conferred.
7. Tharmapuram Venkatarama Ayyar Krishnaswami Ayyar, inspector of police.	This inspector has a record of consistently meritorious work and has shown marked ability in the conduct of special investigations and in the control of difficult police circles, in which he has exhibited high qualities of tact in dealing with the people.
8. Abhiramapuram K. Rajah Ayyar, B.A., Deputy Superintendent of Police.	In the Cuddapah District a gang of persons who were associated together for the purpose of committing murder for mercenary considerations sprang into existence about 11 years ago and came prominently to notice in 1909. Their services were utilized in faction fights and at first they enjoyed immunity as there were no grounds for suspecting them and the factions implicated members of hostile factions. As they grew bolder they raised the price of their services which varied according to the rank and position of the victim. Their crimes were carefully organized and skilfully carried out so that detection was most difficult. In the absence of evidence sufficient to secure convictions under the Penal Code, it was necessary to institute proceedings against the gang under the Criminal Procedure Code, and Deputy Superintendent M. R. Ry. A. K. Rajah Ayyar worked up and brought to a successful issue the security cases against the leaders and also rendered great assistance in the preparation of the case against them under the Criminal Tribes Act. Although his life was in danger he did his duty unflinchingly, and was largely instrumental in ridding the Ceded Districts of this menace to the lives and security of their inhabitants.
9. Govindan Nayar, head constable.	Head constable Govindan Nayar joined the department in 1885 and is now the senior head constable in the Mallapuram Special Force. He has taken part in the suppression of six Mappilla outbreaks, and has received the thanks of Government in connection with three of them. During the outbreak of the present year he was in charge of the signallers and rendered valuable services both prior to the actual outbreak and during its continuance. During his long and valuable service in the police Govindan Nayar has maintained an unblemished record of good conduct.
10. Edmond Harvey Sullivan, Officiating Superintendent of Police.	On receipt of news of the rebellion in the Daspalla State within the jurisdiction of the Government of Bihar and Orissa, Mr. Sullivan marched the Chatrapur Reserve from Berhampur to Daspalla. Great difficulties were encountered as regards transport and finally Mr. Sullivan decided to proceed, each man carrying his own supplies and ammunition. Though the capital of Daspalla was reached only after the outbreak had been crushed by other forces, the Chatrapur police deserved great credit for the promptness of the assistance rendered by them, which was largely due to Mr. Sullivan's initiative and energy. Subsequently, owing to his admirable arrangements, two of the leading rebels who absconded to British territory were arrested by the Ganjam Police. Mr. Sullivan has received the thanks of the Government of Bihar and Orissa for the services rendered by him in connection with this outbreak.

BOMBAY.

11. Wilfrid Henry Luck, Deputy Inspector-General of Police for Sind.	Mr. Luck is a very sound and capable officer with 28 years' service who did exceptionally good work in suppressing serious and widespread crime and disorder by the Bhils in Khandesh and in effecting the capture on the 31st July 1901 of the notorious Rumalya and some of his followers. His work in Káthiáwar also, where he kept the Agency Police Force in a high state of efficiency, was exceptionally good and his personal services were invaluable.

Name of officer and rank.	Statement of services for which in particular the decoration has been conferred.
12. F. C. Griffith, Deputy Commissioner of Police.	As Deputy Commissioner in charge of the Criminal Investigation Department in Bombay the bulk of the work in connection with enemy subjects and of the enquiries necessitated by war conditions has fallen on Mr. Griffith's shoulders, and the fact that the orders of Government have been carried out without a hitch is largely due to his care and control. At the same time he has in no way relaxed his personal supervision over the ordinary business of the Criminal Investigation Department and has kept the regular work of the Department running, while at the same time dealing with a mass of special work in novel circumstances and conditions.
13. Simon Favel, inspector of police.	Inspector Favel joined the Bombay City Police Force in 1894, and is now senior inspector of the Criminal Investigation Department in charge of the Foreign Branch. He has had no bad entry or punishment throughout his service, and has earned 17 special entries for good work. Since the outbreak of the war in August 1914 he has done hard and capable work in dealing with enemy subjects, meeting and boarding every ship that has entered the port, and carrying out all the detailed work in connection with the internment, surveillance, maintenance, etc., of foreign subjects for which he is specially fitted by his complete knowledge of the foreign European population. His services since the outbreak of war have been invaluable.
14. Abdul Wahab alias Shaik Fajee, head constable, G. I. P. Railway Police.	During a period of 19 years' service in which he has risen from constable to first grade head constable this officer has obtained no less than 106 certificates and rewards in connection with the detection of crime. In the majority of the above cases he had worked entirely on his own initiative although he is illiterate. With the exception of one warning of an insignificant nature this officer's record is without a punishment, censure or adverse remark.
15. Khán Sáheb Muhammad Faizullah, Muhammad Taki, inspector of police.	This officer holds the personal title of "Khán Sáheb" and the Medal of the Royal Victorian Order. Since the grant of the title in the year 1913, he has in addition to his ordinary duties in the Crime Branch of the Criminal Investigation Department worked very hard amongst the Muhammadan public, and has been largely instrumental in bringing about the excellent relations which now exist between the Mussalmans of Bombay and the Commissioner of Police. His work in the city and among the non-combatant subjects of Turkey has been of the greatest merit and value since the outbreak of war.
16. J. Acton, inspector of police, Ahmedabad.	On the 18th April 1913, a fire broke out at a house in Ahmedabad, and on receipt of information Mr. Acton at once proceeded to the scene. On arrival he learnt that all the inmates of the house had escaped except a young girl aged 12 years, who, he was informed, was in the top room. Mr. Acton at once obtained a ladder and mounted to a barred window outside the room pointed out to him. He had to wrench out the bars before he could enter the room, and on his first attempt to search for the girl was forced back by the dense volumes of smoke; but he resumed his efforts after drenching his clothes and covering his face with a wet cloth. He discovered the body of the girl and carried it out but unfortunately too late to save the girl's life. Mr. Acton ran considerable risk as the floor of the room collapsed a few minutes later.

BOMBAY—concld.

Name of officer and rank.	Statement of services for which in particular the decoration has been conferred.
17. Dhondu Narayan, constable.	Early on the morning of July 12th, 1915, a burglary took place in Bombay and on the alarm being given Dhondu Narayan ran forward to arrest one of the burglars who was armed with a long knife and had already stabbed a coolie. Dhondu Narayan seized and wrestled with the burglar, who stabbed him so severely in the back that he had to loose his hold. The burglar then made off, but Dhondu Narayan, though badly wounded, followed him up and seized him again. Although stabbed again twice he still clung to the man, and eventually let go only on receiving a fourth stab over the left eye. The burglar then made his escape, stabbing on the road two townsmen who were running up to the constable's assistance. The manner in which this young constable though unarmed and badly wounded, followed the man up and continued his attempt to arrest him evidences courage and a devotion to duty of a high order.
18. Oswald Allen Harker, Deputy Commissioner of Police.	As Deputy Commissioner of Police, Mr. Harker from the outbreak of the war was placed in charge of all the special police arrangements required by the Military authorities in connection with the movement to Bombay and embarkation of the expeditionary forces. He has been in direct control of the police arrangements in the Alexandra Dock, which have been carried out without any hitch and has also dealt direct with the Brigade Office in all matters concerning the presence of large bodies of troops in Bombay. He has also had extra work in connection with sudden demands for assistance from both the Military and Naval authorities. He has shown well-directed energy in these matters, while simultaneously carrying on his ordinary duties, which are by no means light, and his work merits special recognition.
19. John Joseph Stenson, inspector of police.	This officer joined the Bombay City Police Force in 1898, and has a perfectly clean record. He has earned twenty-seven special entries for excellent work in connection with various forms of crime, and for the last four years has been in charge of one of the new sub-divisions under the organization scheme, where, by his hard work, experience, and care, he has brought the administration of a troublesome area to a very high level. On the outbreak of war with Turkey he was charged with the extra task of making a complete register of all the Turkish subjects, most of whom live in his sub-division, and he carried out this duty with so much tact and expedition that practically no movement took place among the population of the "E" Division at a time when a panic and exodus might well have been expected. He has never been censured in any way by a court of law, but on the contrary has twice been specially complimented by the Magistracy.

BENGAL.

20. William Thomas Moore, Deputy Inspector-General of Police.	This officer, who joined the Bengal Police in 1886 and has held charge of several important and heavy districts, was promoted to the rank of Deputy Inspector-General in Eastern Bengal and Assam in April 1911 and placed in charge of the Eastern Range consisting of the districts of Assam and of the Chittagong Division. On the constitution of the province of Bengal he was appointed to the heaviest police range comprising the 11 districts of the Presidency and Burdwan Divisions. As a Superintendent of Police he was commended for careful and hard work, and as Deputy Inspector-General of Police in Eastern Bengal and Assam he did much to improve the discipline and working of the force. His work in the Presidency

	Range has been equally satisfactory. Although in charge of a very heavy range he has devoted himself to his work with zeal and the efficient management of the range is due largely to his supervision and control. He is entirely responsible for the initiation and organization in Western Bengal of the village defence scheme which promises to be popular and which has, in several instances, been instrumental in preventing crime. He is a most zealous and conscientious worker, and an officer of sound judgment who has rendered long and meritorious service.
21. Trevor Claude Simpson, Superintendent of Police.	This officer was commended several times for his successful administration of the police in the heavy criminal districts of Bakarganj and Monghyr. He is an enthusiastic and hardworking officer and a strong disciplinarian. He has done excellent work as Assistant to the Deputy-Inspector-General of Police, Crime and Railways, and as Personal Assistant to the Inspector-General of Police, in which capacity his work during the past two years has been of a very high order. The recent progress in the reform and reorganization of the Police Department is attributed in a great measure to his indefatigable industry and hard work combined with his experience and devotion to duty.
22. Lionel Hewitt Colson, Superintendent of Police.	This officer was specially selected for executive work in the Intelligence Branch of the Criminal Intelligence Department, Bengal, on the reconstitution of the province in April 1912. He has fully justified his selection and has done remarkably good work. He is very careful and sound in his judgment and can be trusted to conduct the most intricate cases.
23. Keramat Husain, head constable.	This officer displayed conspicuous gallantry and presence of mind on the occasion of a Sonthal disturbance in Dinajpur in March last. After Mr. Burton, the Superintendent of Police, had been wounded, Keramat Husain assumed charge and with great presence of mind and by an intelligent use of his men succeeded in keeping the refractory Sonthals within their houses and in arresting them on the arrival of reinforcements from headquarters. The head constable by his gallant example prevented any further breach of the peace.

UNITED PROVINCES.

24. Elliot Kaye, Superintendent of Police.	The village of Bargadwa in the Basti District was the scene of a serious attempt at rioting on the occasion of the Muhammadan festival of the Id in October 1914. The Muhammadan inhabitants of the village had determined to sacrifice buffaloes in accordance with their time-honoured practice and the Hindus of the neighbouring villages were equally determined to prevent the sacrifices taking place. On the 31st October a determined effort was made by the Hindus to force their way into Bargadwa and rescue the sacrificial animals. Mr. Kaye, Superintendent of Police, accompanied by the Sub-Divisional Officer, the tahsildar, and a small force of police, was occupied the whole day in stopping the rushes of the crowds which had gathered in considerable numbers and which made repeated attacks to get into the village. First a crowd of 200 was dispersed, and this was followed by simultaneous attacks by two larger bodies, which were only dispersed with great difficulty and after they had actually broken through the police cordon and started attacking the Muhammadans. The situation at this stage was critical as the police were outnumbered, and Mr. Kaye was finally forced to fire at the leaders and this resolute action on his part had the desired effect of driving off the crowd. Mr. Kaye's promptitude and masterly handling of the police undoubtedly saved the situation and prevented serious rioting and loss of life.

25. Bashir Husain, sub-inspector of police.	Two notorious dacoits, named Barkau Singh and Gauri Shankar, had given the police of the Hardoi and Farrakhabad districts much anxiety by their criminal activity and immunity from arrest. On the 24th of September 1914 information was received that they were resting in a hut and sub-inspector Bashir Husain with other police at once left for the jungle where the hut was situated and gradually surrounded it. This sub-inspector with two constables crept up to the hut and saw Barkau Singh and Gauri Shankar asleep inside on the ground with loaded firearms beside them. The police crawled into the hut and secured Barkau Singh before he could use his revolver. Gauri Shankar, however, managed to snatch his gun and fire at the police before they could seize him. Sub-inspector Bashir Husain and the constables were all severely injured, but in spite of their wounds they held the two dacoits down till the rest of the police party arrived.

PUNJAB.

26. H. V. B. Scott, Superintendent of Police.	This officer, who entered the Police Department in 1894, has done excellent work wherever he has served. He held the important charge of the Delhi district from August 1907 to April 1912, and on him fell the organization of the preliminary arrangements for His Majesty the King-Emperor's Darbar in the winter of 1911. His services before and during the Darbar were of a most valuable nature. Mr. Scott's work in connection with sedition also entitles him to recognition.
27. A. W. Mercer, Superintendent of Police.	Mr. Mercer rendered valuable services to Government as Assistant Political Officer and Commandant of the Waziristan Levies, from May 1896 to September 1898, during which period he also officiated for three months as Political Officer, Wano. He subsequently proceeded to Kohat, where his services in negotiations with the Adam Khel tribesmen for the construction of a good road through the Kohat Pass were acknowledged by the Government of India. In his capacity as Adjutant of the Samana Rifles he did excellent work in organizing and training this newly raised Military Police Corps. Since February 1911 Mr. Mercer has done splendid work as Principal, Police Training School, Phillaur, in which capacity he has trained both gazetted and non-gazetted officers on sound lines. On the outbreak of war it was realized that certain tracts in the Punjab were likely to get out of hand, and it was therefore decided to bring the Punjab police reserves together at Phillaur and train them to operate in separate bodies over large tracts of country and at the same time to keep in touch with each other and the movements of hostile gangs. All this training devolved upon Mr. Mercer and, in spite of many difficulties, excellent results were obtained, as was evidenced subsequently when reconnaissances in force were carried out under Mr. Mercer's command with valuable results in the Doaba tract. Excellent work was also done in other parts of the province by bodies of reserves which had been trained by Mr. Mercer, and it was largely due to the operations of these reserves that the situation was kept well in hand and disorder suppressed.

28. J. F Coatman, Assistant Superintendent of Police.	When the recent trouble in the south-west portion of the Punjab was at its height Mr. Coatman was sent from Phillaur to Muzaffargarh to assist in the suppression of dacoities in that district. Immediately on arrival, Mr. Coatman proceeded with a small body of reserves to Jatoi, the storm centre, where he acted with great vigour, patrolling himself night and day and sending out well organized patrol parties in different directions. Several dacoities were prevented by the energy of Mr. Coatman who sent out patrols to villages likely to be attacked and himself drove off several gangs. In one of these cases he personally captured a dacoit red-handed, and, in another case, one of his patrol parties encountered and after a brief fight dispersed a gang of 500 dacoits. Mr. Coatman's firm, vigorous, and courageous action put an immediate stop to the trouble then prevailing in the Muzaffargarh District. His health subsequently broke down as a result of the strain and exposure entailed in carrying out his arduous duties.
29. Abdul Aziz, inspector of police.	This officer entered the Police Department on the 1st June 1898 as a constable and has by steady application and honest work raised himself to his present position as inspector with the well deserved reputation of being one of the best detectives and investigating officers in the department. During his service of 16 years he has gained no less than 81 commendatory entries in his character roll for special service and, on many occasions, he has also been rewarded in other ways while, on the other hand, he has never incurred so much as a censure. He has figured with success in many difficult and well known investigations in which his work has been of the greatest value.
30. Sardar Liaqat Hayat Khan, Deputy Superintendent of Police.	Sardar Liaqat Hayat Khan has rendered most valuable service in the investigation of important cases in which he has displayed great coolness, courage, and promptitude.
31. Amir Ali, inspector of police.	Inspector Amir Ali has assisted in important investigations in which he has given valuable help and has shown great courage and coolness.
32. Sant Singh, sub-inspector.	Sub-inspector Sant Singh has rendered services of special value in obtaining information connected with the investigation of cases of exceptional importance.
33. Fazil Imam, sub-inspector of police.	This officer joined the Patiala State Police under Mr. J. P. Warburton, C.I.E., in May 1902, subsequently receiving an appointment as sub-inspector in the Punjab Police in August 1912. During his police service he has shown himself to be a detective of the first order and has a fine record of investigation work to his credit. He has shown great acumen and tact in several important cases.
34. Amar Singh, sub-inspector of police.	Amar Singh has rendered services of great value in important investigations and has shown great courage and disregard of danger in the performance of his duties.
35. Sher Muhammad, head constable, Dera Ghazi Khan District.	During the recent trouble in the Muzaffargarh District, head constable Sher Muhammad with a party of police constables was on duty with Mr. Coatman, Assistant Superintendent of Police, who was engaged in suppressing dacoities in the neighbourhood. On the 14th March last this head constable, with six foot constables, was despatched to the town of Khairpur Sadat, on which a raid by dacoits was expected. The head constable and his men reached Khairpur at 8 P.M. and began to patrol. Between 9 and 10 P.M. the sound of persons assembling in the date palms outside was heard, and, shortly afterwards, a large gang of dacoits approached the town uttering wild cries. The head constable doubled his men to the side of the town against which the attack was expected. The dacoits rushed on firing a gun as they advanced. The police fired a volley as a warning and the dacoits drew back for a space. Then, thinking that the resistance of the police was not of a serious nature, the whole raiding party again rushed to attack. The head constable, therefore, gave the order to fire a volley of buck-shot, and, under his directions, independent firing was continued until the dacoits broke and fled, leaving two of their number dead on the ground, another in a dying condition, and a fourth who was severely wounded. The strength of the gang has been variously estimated at from 500 to 1,000 men, but, whatever their actual number may have been, it is certain that the gang was a very large one and that, had it not been for the presence of the police and their cool and determined resistance inspired by the head constable, Khairpur would have been sacked and burnt.

36. Phuman Singh, foot constable.	Phuman Singh, though himself unarmed, chased and seized a desperate criminal armed with a dagger and, though wounded in several places, held on to his prisoner till help arrived.

BURMA.

37. Edward Cheke Smalley Shuttleworth, Superintendent of Police.	Mr. Shuttleworth joined the Police in February 1887, and served with success in various districts until 1905. In that year he was employed on special duty in connection with the reforms resulting from the report of the Indian Police Commission, and his work was of much assistance to the Local Government. He was then employed as Personal Assistant to the Inspector-General of Police until 1909, when he was appointed to be Assistant Commissioner of Police, Rangoon Town. He still holds this appointment, and has officiated as Commissioner of Police on several occasions. Since the outbreak of war Mr. Shuttleworth's services have been of special value. His career as a police-officer has been throughout exceptionally meritorious and he has shown special ability in administrative work and in organization.
38. Nawab Ali, head constable.	On the 19th February 1915 two Burmans, of whom one was armed with a revolver and clasp-knife and the other with a gun and dagger, committed a highway robbery on Mandalay Hill. They were chased by Nawab Ali, who was unarmed. He brought the robbers to bay and seized one of them single-handed. Although a crowd was collecting, Nawab Ali at this time received no help from the onlookers, and the second robber came to his companion's assistance and attempted to fire his revolver twice at Nawab Ali at very close range but twice the revolver missed fire. Nawab Ali then attempted to seize both the robbers. One of them broke loose and made a third attempt to shoot the head constable at point-blank range, but again the revolver missed fire. The crowd then rushed in, and the two robbers were secured. It was entirely due to Nawab Ali's bravery and endurance that the robbers were captured.

39. *Daim Khan, head constable.	On the 14th February 1915 three men, of whom one was armed with a revolver, committed a robbery in Mandalay Town. Two of them were traced to a certain house. Head constable Daim Khan, who was awarded the King's Police Medal in 1913 for conspicuous bravery, was ordered to go up on to the roof of the house and see if the men were hiding there. Daim Khan found two men crouching on the roof, and one of them fired a shot at him. Daim Khan thereupon though unarmed closed with this man and seized him by the hair. A struggle ensued, in the course of which both Daim Khan and his assailant fell to the ground, a distance of 20 feet. Although badly hurt by the fall and almost unconscious, Daim Khan held on to the robber until he was taken into custody. The other robber was subsequently secured.
40. Maung Mo Zwe, head constable, and officiating sub-inspector of police.	On the evening of the 28th November 1914, at a pagoda festival in Thayetmyo, one Nga Shwe, who had been drinking, suddenly ran amok, armed with a dagger, and after fatally stabbing one man, ran stabbing right and left at everybody whom he met, including an Indian police constable, an old woman, a blind beggar and several others. He then met head constable Maung Mo Zwe and constable Maung San Baw, who were on duty armed with sticks. Maung Mo Zwe without hestitation attacked Nga Shwe but was stabbed in the hand and wrist and compelled to drop his stick. Maung San Baw went to his assistance and, finding his stick ineffective, dropped it and grappled with Nga Shwe seizing him round the waist and trying to get him down. While doing this he was severely stabbed in the back, but held on while Maung Mo Zwe, with the assistance of a bystander, beat Nga Shwe to the ground, where he lost his dagger and was secured. Nga Shwe killed one person and wounded eleven others, including two women, and there is no doubt that if it had not been for the prompt and gallant behaviour of head constable Maung Mo Zwe and constable Maung San Baw, he would have killed and injured many more, as the place was crowded and he was in a state of frenzy.
41. Maung San Baw, constable.	Maung San Baw showed conspicious bravery in assisting head constable Maung Mo Zwe in arresting Nga Shwe, who had run amok and stabbed several people as described in the previous recommendation (No. 40).
42. Sukraj Limbu, subadar .	Subadar Sukraj Limbu, of the Putao Battalion of the Burma Military Police, who is now serving in Europe with the 3rd (Q.A.O.) Gurkha Rifles, has served for 25 years in the Burma Military Police. He was Jemadar-Adjutant of his Battalion for eight years. He has been awarded the India Medal, 1854, with Burma Clasp, 1889-92, and 1892-93. He served in the operations on the North-East Frontier in connection with Hākmti Lōng in 1910-11, 1911-12, and 1912-13, and received a Sword of Honour from the Lieutenant-Governor in 1911. During the recent operations against the Kachins, Subadar Sukraj Limbu displayed conspicuous gallantry and leading, and was warmly praised by the British officers under whom he served. He has always been distinguished for keenness and efficiency, and by his conduct and example he has helped to keep his battalion of Military Police in good order

43. Maung Aung Ban, A.T.M., Deputy Superintendent of Police.	Maung Aung Ban joined the Police as a head constable, and has worked his way up to his present position of Deputy Superintendent, 1st grade, by consistent good work and ability. He served in the Yaméthin District as an inspector in the troubleus days following the annexation of Upper Burma, and has served subsequently both in charge of important sub-divisions and as assistant at district headquarters. On two occasions he has officiated as District Superintendent of Police during short periods, and he has acquitted himself well in all the charges which he has held. He is now nearing retirement after long and loyal service for the British Government. Maung Aung Ban has always had the reputation of being a most valuable officer, thoroughly upright in all his dealings.

ASSAM.

44. Lieutenant-Colonel Albert Edward Woods, C.S.I., Inspector-General of Police.	Lieutenant-Colonel Woods has been Inspector-General of Police since the reconstitution of the province in April 1912 and has rendered valuable service in reorganizing the Police Department. Having served with them on numerous trans-frontier expeditions he has a very intimate knowledge of the working of the Military Police. His special knowledge of this branch of the service has been of the greatest value to the Administration.
45. Hirarup Sahi, Jemadar, Lushai Hills Military Police Battalion.	Hirarup Sahi is a most capable non-commissioned officer with 28 years' meritorious service, who rendered exceptionally good assistance in connection with the Debong survey escort party, 1912-13.

NORTH-WEST FRONTIER PROVINCE.

46. Muhammad Akbar, officiating sub-inspector of police.	On the 27th February 1915, sub-inspector Muhammad Akbar left Police Station Shankargarh, accompanied by two constables, to investigate a dacoity case. As he approached Piari village he saw, and recognized, a man named Faizulla, who had been expelled from the district under the Frontier Crimes Regulation and was suspected of complicity in two cases of dacoity. Faizulla was armed with a ·303 Martini-Metford carbine and was wearing a bandolier full of cartridges. On seeing the police he started off for the border. The police were unarmed and sub-inspector Muhammad Akbar sent the constables to the village to get assistance while he himself followed Faizulla. The latter threatened to shoot him unless he went away. The sub-inspector managed to get close to Faizulla, threw himself on him, and overpowered him. Faizulla fired his carbine but without effect and, on the arrival of the constables with assistance, he was secured.
47. Khan Sahib Boi Khan, Subadar-Major, Frontier Constabulary.	On the 14th April 1915, a party of 38 rifles of the Frontier Constabulary returning from patrol under the command of Subadar-Major Boi Khan was crossing the river Gomal near the Manjhi post. On reaching an island half way across left by the flood, the river was found to be rapidly rising, and the party endeavoured to return to the Manjhi bank. Sepoy Aslam, with others was attempting to cross the river, when e was carried away into deep water under a cliff, and disppeared from view. Subadar-Major Boi Khan was at the ad of the island mentioned above, and deliberately put his horse into the main stream, in which he was carried down until he managed to reach the further bank. Owing o the force of the stream none of the men carrying rifles were able to follow him. On reaching the further bank the Subadar-Major galloped down stream about a thousand yards to a place where the bed of the river was dotted with boulders, and where the sepoy had last been seen. Dismounting at this point he entered the stream, and by bracing himself against boulders, reached the sepoy about six yards from the bank, where he was caught in some rocks. The sepoy was badly wounded in the head and succumbed to his injuries about four hours later.

HYDERABAD.

48. William Alfred Gayer, Deputy Inspector-General of Police, His Highness the Nizam's Government.	Mr. W. A. Gayer joined the Indian Police Department in December 1887 and in 1894 was appointed Assistant to the General Superintendent of Thagi and Dakaiti. In 1896 he was transferred from Rajputana to Hyderabad as Thagi Assistant. When the Thagi and Dakaiti establishment in the Hyderabad State was made over to His Highness' Government in 1904, Mr. Gayer's services were transferred with it as Assistant to the Inspector General of His Highness the Nizam's District Police, and in 1910 his designation was altered to Deputy Inspector-General of Police. Mr. Gayer is a conscientious and hardworking officer. As head of the Criminal Investigation Department of the Hyderabad State he has displayed marked ability, whilst his untiring energy and single-hearted devotion to duty have been of the greatest value to Mr. Hankin in the task of improving the police administration of His Highness' Dominions. His skill in detective work has recently been utilized by the Nizam in the investigation of confidential cases of much importance for which he has been specially rewarded.

AJMER-MERWARA.

49. Subhan Khan, constable .	On the 28th March 1914, Subhan Khan showed great gallantry in defending a cart, containing treasure to the value of R20,000, which was attacked by 8 to 10 dacoits armed with guns, swords, and bludgeons. The party escorting the cart, numbering eight persons (only 2 of whom were constables), fled with the exception of this constable but, though unarmed except for a bludgeon, he resisted the dacoits and seized one of their number and it was not till he was felled to the ground after being wounded in the head and thigh with slugs fired from a gun that he released the dacoit. As a result of his resistance the dacoits dropped the one bag of R6,000 which they had seized and the object of their attack was entirely frustrated. It is doubtful whether the injury which Subhan Khan received will not be permanent.

BALUCHISTAN.

50. Abbas Raza Khan, sub-inspector of police.	Previous to his enrolment in the Baluchistan Police, Abbas Raza Khan served as a Jemadar in the 106th Hazara Pioneers for 8 years and 9 months. On the 8th February 1915, sub-inspector Abbas Raza was at Killa Abdulla, near the Afghan frontier, in charge of a small force of 15 policemen. He got information that the place was going to be raided in a few hours by a powerful and well-armed gang from across the frontier. He made the best dispositions possible and induced the police to hold their fire till the critical moment. The result was that the raiders did no damage while they lost four killed and two wounded. There is no doubt that others who got away were also wounded. This repulse had the most salutary effect on the border, and the sub-inspector's conduct showed disciplined courage of a high order.

51. Gulab Shah, mounted head constable.	At Fort Sandeman on the 14th August 1914, ex-head constable Sher Singh after being dismissed from the police got possession of a Pathan's rifle and a number of rounds of ammunition and attempted to shoot sub-inspector Sundar Singh. He fired at the sub-inspector and missed and then ran to the bazaar where he wounded a local Pathan who died from the effects of the wound. The offender then ran and took cover in a sangar on the hill behind the police rifle butts, and opened fire on the police who were pursuing him. Gulab Shah and seven other policemen ran to cover within 70 yards of where Sher Singh was hiding. Gulab Shah was not content to lie down as soon as he reached cover, but with great gallantry crept up to within 28 yards of the murderer, then stood up, challenged him and took him prisoner. Had Sher Singh's rifle been loaded at the time he was challenged, Gulab Shah would certainly have lost his life. His brave act secured the surrender of Sher Singh without further bloodshed.

Standing crops are generally good. Farm stock is healthy and pasturage is ample. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon has risen slightly to Rs. 90 but is somewhat below normal.

Assam.—The weather is seasonable and favourable for standing crops. Harvesting of winter rice, plucking of tea and ploughing of land for autumn rice and jute continue. The outturn of winter rice is fair to good. Pressing of sugarcane and plucking of cotton are going on. Preparation of land for jhum cultivation in hill districts has commenced. The price of rice has fallen slightly. Cattle disease is reported from three districts.

Bengal.—During the week light and scattered showers fell in a few places in north Bengal. Reaping of winter rice is reaching completion. Threshing continues. The outturn is reported to be good. Harvesting of potatoes and of other spring crops has commenced in some districts. The condition and prospects of the standing spring crops are generally reported to be satisfactory. Cattle disease is reported from two districts. The daily average of persons engaged on test works amounted in Bankura to 4,767 and in Tippera to 2,601. Gratuitous relief was given to 16,398 persons in these two districts as against 15,883 persons in the preceding week. The average price of common rice for the Province fell by about 1·9 per cent as compared with that of the preceding week.

United Provinces.—Showers were received in most parts of the Provinces but more rain is still needed in the north and west. Irrigation and weeding of spring crops and poppy and pressing of and preparation of land for sugarcane are in progress. Standing crops are doing well The condition of agricultural stock is good and very little cattle disease is reported. Fodder and water are sufficient everywhere though the former is dear in the Muzaffarnagar, Aligarh, Muttra and Sitapur districts. The market supplies are ample. The level of prices remains practically unchanged.

Punjab.—Except for slight showers in parts of the submontane tract the weather remained dry. Picking of cotton and pressing of sugarcane continue. The yield is generally normal on irrigated and below normal on unirrigated areas. Sowings of spring crops have been nearly completed. The condition of standing crops is fair on irrigated areas but the unirrigated crops are suffering for want of rain which is urgently needed everywhere. Toria is being harvested with yield generally normal. Cattle are generally healthy but are becoming weak owing to scarcity of fodder in parts of the south, east and west. Water for drinking and irrigation is generally sufficient. Prices are generally stationary and range between warning and scarcity rates. Price of wheat:—Ambala 8¼, Lahore and Rawalpindi 8¾, Ferozepore 9 and Lyallpur 9¼ seers per rupee.

Hyderabad.—Slight rain fell in many districts of Mahrattwara and benefited standing crops except in a few places and little or no rain was received in Telingana. The average fall was 60 cents. Cotton is being picked and the early rice crop is being harvested in a few places. Spring crops are in fair to good condition but have been damaged somewhat by rats or locusts in parts of the Usmanabad and Nizamabad districts. Late rice lands are being prepared and sown. Cattle disease prevails in seven talukas. Prices of grains are almost constant. The highest price of juar in districts is 9¾ seers per rupee in Gulbarga and the lowest 24 seers per rupee in Adilabad.

Mysore.—The rainfall during the week was light in all districts. The price of rice has fallen slightly in Mysore and Hassan. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are in fair condition. The outturn of harvested paddy and sugarcane is good and that of ragi, horsegram, groundnut and cotton is fair. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Agricultural prospects are good. Picking of coffee and reaping of rice continue. Picking of cardamom has been completed. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Fodder for cattle is sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was heavy in South Arcot and Tanjore, fair to good in Chingleput, the central parts except Chittoor, Travancore, the Nilgiris and the southern parts except Tanjore and light or nil elsewhere. Standing crops are fair to good generally but are withering or require more rain in parts of three districts. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops is proceeding with outturn fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops are proceeding or are being completed normally. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water supply is sufficient except in parts of Anantapur, South Arcot, Madura and the central parts except Coimbatore. Pasture is generally sufficient. Fodder is available except in parts of four districts. Prices have risen slightly.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON CO-OPERATION IN INDIA, 1915.

RESOLUTION.

Dated Delhi, the 4th January 1916.

READ—

The Report of the Committee on Co-operation in India, 1915.

IN Resolution No. 16—312-7, dated the 8th October 1914, the Government of India appointed a Committee to examine whether the co-operative movement, especially in its higher stages and in its financial aspect, was progressing on sound lines and to suggest any measures of improvement which seemed to be required. Although it was intended that the enquiry should mainly be directed to financial questions its scope was not rigidly limited, and the Committee was given discretion to consider and make recommendations regarding any important aspect of the movement.

The Committee met early in November 1914 and, in the course of a tour in the larger provinces which lasted four months, examined numerous witnesses and inspected many societies. The results of these enquiries have now been submitted and although the Committee is careful to explain that the report is in no way intended to be a cyclopædia of information on co-operation in India, those interested in the movement will find it an indispensable work of reference. Some time must necessarily elapse before the numerous recommendations contained in the report can be dealt with finally, but the Government of India desire to take the first opportunity to acknowledge the care with which Sir Edward Maclagan, the President of the Committee, and his colleagues have carried out these enquiries. The valuable report which is the outcome of their labours marks a distinct stage in the history of co-operation in India.

2. Two broad results emerge from the enquiry—the first that in the majority of cases primary societies fall short of the co-operative ideal, and the second that, although, owing to the rapid expansion of deposits, co-operative banks have hitherto been able to meet their obligations promptly, it has become necessary to place the whole organization on a sounder financial footing, especially by the provision of adequate fluid resources. The Committee has therefore rightly kept in view the development of a truly co-operative system, rather than cheap money-lending, and the improvement of the financial position of the whole organization. With few exceptions the numerous recommendations contained in the report aim at securing one or other of these objects.

3. The Government of India are not at present prepared to pass orders on all the recommendations made by the Committee and the principal object of the present orders is to indicate the manner in which they propose to deal with the report. This is shewn in the appended statement which divides the 209 recommendations contained in the report into four classes :—

(a) those which the Government of India consider should be adopted so far as is possible, it being understood that a reference may be made to the Government of India should any Local Government or Administration consider this necessary;

(b) those on which the views of Local Governments and Administrations are now invited;

(c) those which have already been referred to Local Governments and Administrations; and

(d) those on which action will be taken separately by the Government of India.

It will be observed that the second of these four classes includes practically the whole of those portions of the report which deal with the audit and supervision of Primary Societies and with Central and Provincial Banks. The Government of India, in view of the vital importance of these portions of the report, consider that it would be more convenient if the views of the Local Governments and Administrations were obtained on them as a whole.

It is hoped that Local Governments and Administrations will find it possible to place the Government of India in possession of their views not later than the 30th June 1916.

ORDERED that a copy of the Resolution be communicated to all Local Governments and Administrations,* to Sir Edward Maclagan, K.C.I.E., C.S.I., I.C.S., President of the Committee on Co-operation and to the members of the Committee, and to Home, Finance, Commerce and Industry, Railway, Education and Foreign and Political Departments, for information, in continuation of the endorsement from this Department No. 16—312-7, dated the 8th October 1914.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

MEMORANDUM ON RECENT WEATHER AND ON THE PROBABLE CHARACTER OF THAT OF JANUARY AND FEBRUARY 1916.

RECENT WEATHER IN NORTHERN INDIA AND THE REGION TO THE WEST.

In northwest India the principal incident in the weather of October was the occurrence of a widespread burst of monsoon rainfall during the first two weeks and the consequent delay in the establishment of the winter conditions. November was drier even than usual, and in Persia where ordinarily disturbances of cold weather type begin to appear early in the month, the weather was unusually quiet and settled throughout.

During December three disturbances affected northwest India, but of these only the first, which occurred near the middle of the month, was fairly well marked and produced precipitation of any importance. In Persia weather was singularly free from disturbance and nothing more than a few showers occurred. At the present time dry weather prevails over the whole region from the Punjab to Persia and there are no signs of an immediate change.

On the other hand the rainy season in the south of the Peninsula has been prolonged beyond its normal date.

2. According to the available information the snowfall in the mountain zone bordering upper India has been appreciably lighter than usual, and the snowline at the present time is considerably above its average elevation.

DISCUSSION OF THE PROBABLE CHARACTER OF THE WEATHER OF JANUARY AND FEBRUARY 1916.

3. The depressions which bring rainfall to the north Indian plains and snowfall to the hills travel eastwards or southeastwards and can in the majority of cases be traced back through Persia into southeast Europe. Accordingly information regarding the severity of the present season may be derived from Persia and the regions to the west of northern India quite as satisfactorily as from the plains of northern India where winter rainfall sets in about a month later. In about three fourths of years the tpye of winter in December characterises the season of January and February as a whole; and in December last the fall of rain and snow in the Punjab, North West Frontier Province and Kashmir was only a quarter of the usual amount, while in Persia and Baluchistan the quantity was quite insignificant. Hence it would appear that the coming cold weather will be unusually mild.

4. It is well known to meteorologist that the severity of the first months in the year in north-central Europe, and to a somewhat less extent in northwest Europe, can be forecasted with considerable accuracy from either the temperature of the sea or the air temperature on the coast of Norway in December, or from the excess of pressure at the Azores above that in Iceland in October, November and December: and it might be expected that these factors would affect the number and activity of the depressions that pass into Asia from southeast Europe. The search for indications from Europe has so far however proved fruitless, and it would appear that the most conspicuous control is exercised by the conditions in Asia and the Indian Ocean. The reason that we get cold weather rains is that the region traversed by the depressions in Europe moves southward with the sun in winter, and we might therefore expect that if the meteorological conditions in this hemisphere were developed to the south of their usual positions at this time the winter rains would be in excess. Now an earlier movement southward of the seasonal conditions would mean an earlier retirement of the south-west monsoon from the Bay, and increased amount of rain in November in the sub-equatorial region represented by Zanzibar and Seychelles.

Now the rains in Madras were unusually abundant in November, though rather weak in December: the last fall of the season occurred near the end of the fourth week of December, an event which usually occurs near the middle of the month. In Burma and the Andamans there was a burst of unseasonable rainfall in the first week of December, and in the latter locality the month's total fall has exceeded the normal by 6½ or 151 per cent. On the other hand the rainfall both at Zanzibar and Seychelles in November was practically normal. Thus the southward movement of the region of rainfall has on the whole taken place more slowly than usual, and a corresponding prejudicial influence on the quantity of our winter rainfall is to be expected.

5. The outlook is probably affected by a curious alternation in the character of the winter seasons, those at the beginning of odd years tending to be severe and those at the beginning of even years to be mild. Thus of the forty winters since 1875 the eight severest were those at the beginning of 1877, 1878, 1891, 1893, 1901, 1905, 1907 and 1911; of these only one occurred in an even year; similarly of the five mildest winters, 1879, 1890, 1892, 1902 and and 1912 only one was in an odd year. A similar alternation has been pointed out for European winters between 1874 and 1892; since that date however it has disappeared. In the case of India the amplitude of the oscillation is four times that which would be produced by pure chance, but the average amount of rainfall in an odd year only exceeds that in an even year by 0·3 inch or 25 per cent of the normal, and in the absence of a physical explanation it would be wise not to attach as much importance to this consideration as to those which have preceded it. Like them it exercises an unfavourable influence in the present year.

6. The data accordingly point to the following conclusion: —

It is probable that the total amount of rainfall in northwest India and of snowfall on the neighbouring hills will be distinctly less than usual.

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

The book has been published by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and copies are now procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There are two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and a very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited, and a considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Government Printing, India, Calcutta.

No. 877-L.-A.—The following agreement made under section 41 of the Land Acquisition Act, I of 1894, is published for general information :—

STAMP AS. 8.

Whereas for the purpose of providing accommodation for passengers and for the construction of cooly lines and officers' quarters at Serajganj, District Pabna, the Companies have applied to the Government of Bengal for the acquisition under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, of the piece or parcel of land containing 4 acres 2 roods 23·1 poles or thereabout situate in the village of Berarghona in the district of Pabna and more particularly described in the Schedule A hereto and delineated in the plan* hereunto annexed.

And whereas the said Government of Bengal has required the Companies under the provisions of section 41 of the abovementioned Act to enter into the agreement with the Secretary of State hereinafter contained. Now this Indenture witnesseth that it is hereby agreed and declared as follows :—

(1) On demand the Companies shall and will pay to the said Government of Bengal all and every compensation in respect of the said land tendered, paid or awarded or to be tendered, paid or awarded by the Collector under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, or by the Court to which a reference under part III of the said Act may be made or by the court or courts to which an appeal from the award of the said court may be preferred and all costs, charges and expenses of the proceedings in the aforesaid courts, or otherwise incidental to the proposed acquisition or payable in respect thereof under the provisions of the said Act.

(2) On demand made by the said Collector the obligations of the Companies under the last preceding clause not being thereby limited, the Companies shall and will deposit with the said Collector such sum or sums of money as in his discretion the said Collector may in anticipation estimate to be necessary for the purposes mentioned in the last preceding clause.

*Not printed and published herewith but may be inspected in the office of the Sub-Divisional Officer, Sirajganj.

(6) Should the said work not be completed (and fully equipped in all respects ready for use) within the period stated in the last preceding clause or within such further period as in its discretion may be prescribed or allowed by the said Government of Bengal or should the said land at any time thereafter cease for a period of twenty-four consecutive months, to be held and used or cease to be required for the purpose or purposes provided for in the foregoing fourth clause or should the Companies lease out the land or any portion of it, or erect or permit the erection of any shops or stall thereon contrary to clause 9 hereinafter contained then and in any such case the said Government may summarily re-enter upon and take possession of the said land, and thereupon the interest of the Companies in the said land shall absolutely cease and determine.

(7) On taking such possession the said Government may sell or otherwise deal with the said land as it may think proper. (v) The seniority in the Civil Service of India of the Candidates obtaining Certificates will be determined according to the order in which they stand on the list resulting from the combined marks of the Open Competitive and Final Examinations.

CIVIL SERVICE OF INDIA; &c. &c.

Syallabus of any Open Competitive Examination for the Civil Service of India, and Eastern Cadetships in the Colonial Service that may be held in the year 1916, and of any other competition that may be held in combination therewith.

In view of the importance of legible handwriting in the public service, Candidates are warned that the provision as to deductions for bad handwriting in these competitions will be strictly enforced.

Candidates are warned that full marks cannot be obtained on any paper unless the whole of it is answered, or, in cases where the number of questions to be answered is specified, unless the full number specified is answered.

English Composition.—An Essay to be written on one of several specified subjects.

Sanskrit Language and Literature.—Translation from Sanskrit; composition in Sanskrit; Sanskrit Literature, including the life, thought, and antiquities of Ancient India, together with such knowledge of history as bears upon the subject; questions on the Sanskrit Language (including questions on Philology.)

Composition will be required in Classical Sanskrit alone; elsewhere Vedic Sanskrit is also included.

Candidates are expected to make a special study of the Seventh Mandala of the Rig-vede, but other Vedic hymns may also be set in the examination.

Arabic Language and Literature.—Translation from Arabic; set composition and free composition in Arabic; Arabic Literature, including the life and thought of the Arabs as shown in the literature, together with such knowledge of history as bears upon the subject; questions on the Arabic language (including questions on Philology).

Greek Literature.—Questions on the Greek Language (including questions on Philology), Literature, and Antiquities.

Latin Literature.—Questions on the Latin Language (including questions on Philology) and on Roman Literature and Antiquities.

English Language and Literature.—The Examination will be in two parts. In the one Candidates will be expected to show a general acquaintance with the course of English Literature, as represented in the chief writers in verse and prose, between the reign of Edward III and the death of Queen Victoria.

A minute and detailed knowledge will not be looked for in this part of the Examination. But its aim will be to test how far the Candidates have studied at first hand the chief productions of the greatest English writers, and are acquainted with the leading characteristics of their thought and style, and with the place which each of them occupies in the history of English Literature.

The other part of the Examination will relate to one of the following periods, which will follow each other year by year in rotation.

Period I: 1360 to 1600, Chaucer to Spenser.
Period II: 1600 to 1660, The later Elizabethans.
Period III: 1660 to 1744, The age of Dryden and Pope.
Period IV: 1744 to 1800, From the death of Pope to Cowper.
Period V: 1800 to 1832, Nineteenth Century writers to the death of Scott.
Period VI: 1832 to 1892, From the death of Scott to the death of Tennyson.

The Examination in this part will require from the Candidates a more minute acquaintance with the history of the English Language and Literature, as illustrated in the chief works produced in each period, and will be based to a considerable extent, but by no means exclusively, on certain books specified each year by the Commissioners. The names and other indications placed beside the dates are intended to suggest the general character of the literary development of the period, and, consequently, the natural limits of the Examination. All the works of Shakespeare and Milton, for example, will be regarded as falling within the period 1600 to 1660; all the works of Wordsworth and Coleridge within the period 1800 to 1832; all the works of Carlyle, Landor, and Macaulay within the period 1832 to 1892.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 8th January 1916.

Burma.—No rain fell during the week. Reaping of winter rice is nearing completion and threshing and winnowing are in progress. Cultivation of spring rice and of island crops continues The condition of standing crops is generally good. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon has risen to Rs. 96 per hundred baskets.

Assam.—The weather was seasonable and generally favourable for standing crops. Light rain fell in most districts of the Assam Valley. Harvesting of winter rice has been nearly finished, of pulses is going on and of mustard has begun. Ploughing of land for autumn rice and jute, pressing of sugarcane, plucking of cotton and pruning of tea are in progress. Preparation of land for jhum cultivation in the hill districts is going on. The price of common rice has fallen considerably. Cattle disease is reported from six districts and insufficiency of fodder from one.

Bengal.—The week was practically rainless. Harvesting of winter rice has been already finished in a few districts and is fast approaching completion in the rest. Cutting of sugarcane has commenced. Harvesting of potatoes and of other spring crops continues. Land is being prepared in some of the eastern districts for the next autumn crops. Distress still prevails in Bankura and in the Brahmanbaria sub-division of the Tippera district. Cattle disease is reported from four districts. Fodder is reported to be insufficient in parts of Noakhali The average price of common rice for the Province fell by about 0·4 per cent as compared with that of the preceding week.

The report on scarcity is as follows:—In the Bankura district considerable distress prevails in the greater part of the affected area. It will probably increase when harvesting of autumn paddy ceases. Smaller cultivators and landless labourers are the most affected. There is no wandering or emaciation except in the case of some professional beggars. People on relief are generally in good condition and relief measures are adequate. Weavers are being relieved in their own trade. There is no general disinclination to work. The public health is good. Private charity is not active. Loans are being freely advanced by Government. Prices of food grains are high but stationary. The price of rice is 8 seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief works is 4,829 and on gratuitous relief 10,524, total 15,353. In the Tipperah district the condition is improving owing to the reaping of winter rice and sowing of spring crops. Work is being provided where winter rice has failed. Loans are being distributed. The price of rice is 8 seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief works is 1,848 and on gratuitous relief 9,060, total 10,908.

Bihar and Orissa.—There was practically no rain during the week. Harvesting of paddy is approaching completion. Pressing of sugarcane and weeding of spring crops continue. Standing crops are doing well. The average price of common rice has remained almost stationary as compared with that of the preceding week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from nine districts. The attendance of persons on test works in Manbhum was 3,813 and in Singhbhum 1,811. Gratuitous relief was given to 567 persons in Manbhum. The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is good.

United Provinces.—The week was practically rainless and the need for rain is now becoming pressing in the north and west of the Provinces. Irrigation and weeding of spring crops and of poppy and pressing of, and preparation of land for, sugarcane are in progress. Standing crops are generally doing well. The condition of agricultural stock is good. Cattle disease is rare. Fodder and water are sufficient everywhere but the former is still dear in some western districts. The market supplies are ample. Prices are practically stationary.

Punjab.—The weather is dry. Picking of cotton and pressing of sugarcane continue in some districts with yield generally normal on irrigated and below normal on unirrigated areas. The condition of standing spring crops on irrigated areas is average to good but unirrigated crops are suffering for want of rain which is urgently needed everywhere. Toria is being harvested with yield generally below normal. Cattle are generally healthy but are becoming weak owing to scarcity of fodder in parts of the south, east and west. Water for drinking and canal irrigation is generally sufficient. Prices are generally stationary and range between warning and above scarcity rates. Price of wheat:—Ambala and Rawalpindi 8¼, Lahore 8¾, Ferozepur 9 and Lyallpur 9¼ seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—The week was rainless. Rain is much needed all over the Province. The weather is cold and at times cloudy. The condition of standing irrigated crops is average but of unirrigated crops is poor in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan. Sowings of spring crops are still proceeding but are restricted in unirrigated lands for want of rain. Sowings of sugarcane have commenced in the Bannu tahsil. Harvesting of sugarcane continues and the outturn is reported to be average in the Peshawar district and below average in the Bannu tahsil. The condition of cattle is generally good except in the Lakki tahsil of the Bannu district. Fodder is procurable but is reported to be insufficient in the Nowshera tahsil of the Peshawar district. The water supply is scanty in the unirrigated tracts of the Lakki tahsil and in some villages in the Dera Ismail Khan district. The public health is good. Prices are high but are falling in the case of maize, wheat, barley and bajra in Bannu and in that of gram in Dera Ismail Khan. In Peshawar the price of wheat is rising slightly.

Jammu.—Slight rain fell during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sell from 8 to 11 and maize from 11 to 20 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in the Ramban and Kotli tahsils. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—No rain fell during the week in the Anantanag district but insignificant rain was received elsewhere. Standing crops are not in good condition for want of rain. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices are rising. Water is inadequate. Fodder is insufficient.

Rajputana.—The weather is cool and clear. Irrigation and weeding of spring crops are in progress. Standing crops on wet areas are in good condition. Rain is needed in Bikaner, Dholpur, Bharatpur and Ajmer-Merwara. Pastnfage and fodder are scarce everywhere except Jaisalmere, Serohi, Shahpura, Banswara, Partabgarh, Dholpur and Bundi. The condition of cattle is poor in Marwar, Mewar, Tonk, Kishangarh, Karauli, Alwar and Ajmer and generally fair elsewhere. Prices are generally steady. The number of persons on test works in Merwara was 887.

Central India.—No rain fell during the week except in Dhar where there was a fall of over 1 inch. Rain has been insufficient in Gwalior and in the Mehidpur and Rampura-Bhanpura districts of the Indore State and sufficient elsewhere. Harvesting of autumn crops has been completed in Bundelkhand and is in progress in Baghelkhand and Bhopal. Cotton picking has been nearly finished in Indore. Sugarcane is being pressed in Gwalior. Spring crops are also being irrigated in Gwalior wherever possible and in Indore, Bundelkhand and the southern States. Standing crops are in good condition throughout. Agricultural stock is generally in good condition except for cattle disease in parts of the Bakaner and Jawad parganas of the Gwalior State, Tarana, Rundwar, and Kannod parganas of the Indore State, the Nagod tahsil in the Baghelkhand Agency and in the districts of Dhar and Jhabua of the southern States. The fodder supply is sufficient throughout. Prices are high in Baghelkhand, normal in Bhopal, slightly fluctuating in parts of the Indore State and steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been clear and cool. No rain fell anywhere. Reaping, threshing and winnowing of autumn crops are still in progress in certain districts. Picking of cotton continues. The condition of spring crops is generally good but winter rains are needed. The supply of fodder and water is adequate and cattle are faring well. Variations in prices are unimportant.

Feudatory States:—The condition of standing crops is generally good. Prices are steady.

Bombay.—Standing crops are generally in good condition but are withering in parts of Thar and Parkar and have been damaged by blight in two talukas of Dharwar. Harvesting of autumn crops is progressing. Cotton picking continues in Hyderabad, Thar and Parkar, Nawabshah, Gujarat, Khandesh, Ahmednagar, Baroda and Rewa Kantha. The fodder supply is deficient in parts of Karachi, Larkana, Hyderabad, Thar and Parkar, Cutch, Kathiawar and Baroda. Agricultural stock is sufficient. Cattle are in good condition except in parts of Karachi, Larkana, Hyderabad and Thar and Parkar. Drinking water is generally adequate. Water for irrigation is deficient in parts of Kaira, Ahmedabad and Baroda. Prices of food grains are generally steady.

Hyderabad.—No rain fell during the week. Autumn cotton and castor seeds are being picked. Early rice crop is being harvested in a few parts. Spring crops are in fair to good condition but they have been damaged somewhat by rats in parts of the Usmanabad district and by insect pests in the Nizamabad district. Late rice lands are being prepared. Germination is satisfactory. The general health of cattle is good, but cattle disease prevails in five talukas. Prices of grains are high and are almost stationary. The highest price of juar in districts is 9 seers per rupee in Mahbubnagar and the lowest 25 seers per rupee in Adilabad.

Mysore.—No rain fell during the week. The price of rice has fallen and that of ragi has risen slightly in Kolar. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are generally in good condition. Paddy, ragi and sugarcane are being harvested with outturn fair to good. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Agricultural prospects are good. Picking of coffee and reaping of rice continue. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Fodder for cattle is sufficient.

Madras.—No rain fell during the week. Standing crops are fair to good generally but are withering or require rain in parts of six districts. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops is proceeding with outturn fair to normal generally. Sowing of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops is proceeding or is being completed normally. GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

Delhi, the 20th January 1916.

No. 2.—The Governor General has been pleased, under Rule No. 23 of the Rules for the Conduct of the Legislative Business of the Council of the Governor General, to order the publication in the Gazette of India and in the local official Gazettes in English, of the following Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons relating thereto, and the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons are accordingly hereby published for general information

BILL No. I OF 1916.

A Bill to enable Hindus and Mussalmans to make dispositions of property by transfer inter vivos or by will for the benefit of unborn persons.

WHEREAS it is expedient to enable Hindus and Mussalmans to make dispositions of property to the extent to which it is allowed in cases governed by the provisions of the Indian Succession Act, 1865 (sections 100, 101, 102 and 103) and the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (sections 13, 14, 15 and 16); It is hereby enacted as follows:—

X of 1865.

V of 1882.

1. (i) This Act may be called the Hindu and Mussalman Disposition of Property Act, 191 ;

Short title and extent.

(ii) It extends to the whole of British India.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

Definitions.

(a) "disposition of property" includes disposition by transfer inter vivos as well as disposition by will ;

(b) "unborn person" means, with reference to a transfer, a person not in existence at the date of the transfer, and with reference to a bequest, a person not in existence at the time of the testator's death.

3. From and after the date on which this Act shall come into force, it shall be lawful for Hindus and Mussalmans to make dispositions of property for the benefit of unborn persons, subject to the limitations hereinafter contained.

Dispositions for the benefit of unborn persons.

4. Where a disposition of property is made for the benefit of an unborn person subject to a prior disposition thereof, the disposition for the benefit of the unborn person shall not take effect, unless it extends to the whole of the remaining interest of the transferor or of the testator in the property.

Extent of such dispositions.

X, s. 101; IV, s. 14.

5. No disposition of property can operate to create an interest which is to take effect after the lifetime of one or more persons living at the date of the transfer or of the testator's death, and the minority of some person who shall be in existence at the expiration of that period, and to whom, if he attains full age, the interest created is to belong.

Rule against perpetuity.

X, s. 102; V, 1882,

6. If a disposition of property is made to a class of persons, with regard to some of whom it is inoperative by reason of any of the rules contained in sections 4 and 5, such disposition fails as regards the whole class.

Dispositions in favour of a class.

7. Where a disposition of property fails by reason of any of the rules contained in sections 4, 5 and 6, any disposition intended to take effect after, or upon failure of, such prior disposition also fails.

Act X, 1865, s. 103; Act IV, 1882, s. 15.

Failure of prior disposition.

8. Nothing herein contained shall affect the provisions of any enactment for the time being in force in British India and applicable to Hindus or Mussalmans.

Saving of enactments.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of the present Bill is to enable Hindus and Mussalmans to dispose of property by transfer inter vivos and by will for the benefit of unborn persons within certain limits. According to the Hindu Law as now administered in British India, a gift in favour of a person not in existence at the date of the gift is void: and so also a bequest in favour of a person not in existence at the time of the testator's death. The same is the rule of Mahomedan Law, except that, under the provisions of the Mussalmans Wakf Validating Act, 1913, it is competent to a Mahomedan to settle property for the benefit of unborn persons even in perpetuity, provided the ultimate disposition is for the benefit of charity.

2. Every lawyer familiar with the Indian Courts must have come across a large number of settlements and wills made by Hindus and Mahomedans for the benefit of their children and grandchildren. The paramount object of the settlor in all these cases has been to provide not only for his children and grandchildren then in existence, but also for those to be born hereafter. Instead, however, of giving effect to the settlor's intention, the law as now administered completely defeats it. Even where a donor has only one child in existence at the date of the gift, and the gift is made in express terms for the benefit of all his children including those to be born hereafter, the law excludes from the benefit of the gift all children born subsequently to the date of the gift, to the entire subversion of the donor's intention. Similarly, the intention of testators to benefit by their wills their children and grandchildren not in existence at the death of the testators is also defeated. It is to remedy these evils, and to give effect to the settlor's or testator's intention, that the present Bill is proposed. The sole object of the Bill is to enable the Court to carry out the settlor's or testator's intention, which, under the present state of the law, they are precluded from doing. At the same time, it is recognised that this can only be done within the limits allowed by the rule against perpetuity, and these limits are prescribed in clauses 4 and 5. The effect of the Bill, if passed into law, will be to enable Hindus and Mahomedans to make dispositions of their property to the same extent, and subject to the same limitations as other communities in British India.

Gulf Section.

The decrease under "General Charges" is mainly the net result of smaller expenditure under general superintendence in Europe counter-balanced by the increased expenditure under several other heads. The increase under the head "Cable Maintenance" is principally due to larger issues of stores to "Repairs to Cable."

Persian Section.

The increase under "General Charges" is due to the larger payment on account of balance of rental of Central Persia Telegraph Line accumulated from the year 1912-13 to 1914-15, as well as to the increased expenditure under several other heads. The increase under "Line Maintenance" is mainly due to larger expenditure on "Repairs to Lines."

* Excluding the cost of the London Office Establishment (2,336*l.*), which is included as part of the Establishment of the Secretary of State for India.

4. On a total expenditure of Rs. 1,53,10,386 a net profit of Rs. 12,19,164 was earned during the year, which gives a dividend of Rs. 7·963 per cent. (vide Appendix D). The dividends earned during the past five years are as follows:—

Cis-Indian Joint Purse.

5. Appendix C deals with the transactions in connection with this Agreement, which was entered into in 1878.

The Department's share of the whole Purse shows an increase of	39,007

Which is explained as follows:—

Decrease on Indian traffic	4,763
Increase on Trans-Indian traffic	43,770
	39,007

The increase in Trans-Indian traffic was due to the war.

6. Interruptions affecting Joint Purse Traffic.—There was no total interruption during the year between Karachi and Teheran. Beyond Teheran the route to London has been totally interrupted for traffic since the outbreak of the European war on 31st July 1914.

7. Turkish Route.—The Fao-Bushire cable was interrupted on one occasion for 13 days 1 hour and 15 minutes, when it was cut by the Turks at the outbreak of the Turkish war on the 3rd November 1914. From this date the route beyond Fao to Constantinople was totally interrupted for traffic. The Department was liable, in consequence, to the Joint Purse for 148 days' interruption between Constantinople and Fao at Fcs. 50 per diem.

During the last five years the Turkish route west of Fao has been interrupted as follows:—

10. Appendix E gives the number of messages and words carried under the different classes :—1, State ; 2, Commercial and Private ; 3, Press, during the past five years.

11. The average length of "private and commercial" messages was 11·69 words in 1914-1915 as compared with 9·64 words in the previous year. The average length, calculated from the averages of the past seven years, is 9·77 words.

12. Check of Errors.—A check was applied to the messages to and from the Continent and signalled between Karachi and Teheran during the four months in which communication to the Continent was open. The percentage of errors to words in the messages examined was ·242, which compares favourably with the percentage ·405 for the year 1913-1914.

13. Complaints and Errors.—The number received for investigation amounted to 209, being 246 less than the total for the year 1913-1914. Of this number, 99 were from Europe and 110 from India.

Of the above, 64 were not admitted by the Administrations concerned, or are still being investigated by them, and of the remaining 145 this Department is responsible for 15.

OFFICES.

14. The Turkish Telegraph Offices at Fao, Basra and Kurna were occupied on the 17th November 1914, 3rd December 1914, and 4th February 1915 respectively, and are now being worked by this Department.

The number of offices open to the public on 31st March 1915, excluding those on the Teheran-Meshed (Persian Government) line was, in the Persian Section 16, and in the Persian Gulf Section 20 including six combined post and telegraph offices and three wireless telegraph offices.

PERSIAN GULF SECTION.

CABLES.

15. The total length of the various cables on 31st March 1915 was 1,947·402 knots, as against 1,947·310 knots in the former year, the increase being due to repairs and renewals.

Seven faults occurred during the year due to the following causes :—

1 cable cut by the Turks.
1 cable fouled by ship's anchor.
3 corrosion of guard wires.
1 cable chafed on rocks.
1 cause unknown.

* The independent traffic revenue is that obtained from traffic not touching India, such as for telegrams between the stations of Jask and Bushire.

The expenditure of cable for repairs and renewals amounted to 51·934 knots, the lengths recovered at sea being 36·8 knots.

16. The cable laid in October 1905, between Henjam and Bunder Abbas, has not yet been taken over by the Persian Government.

17. Manora Cable Factory.—The expenditure of cable during the year and cable in stock at the end of the year was as follows :—

	Knots.
Cable in stock on 31st March 1914	64·332
Manufactured at Manora	44·150
Recovered at sea and retaped	7·059

TOTAL	115·844
Deduct cable expended, 1914-1915	59·982

The amount of cable stripped for core was 25·875 knots.

18. Cable Steamer "Patrick Stewart."—The cable steamer 'Patrick Stewart" steamed 10,700 knots, and the engineering staff, either wholly or in part, was absent from headquarters on cabling work for 235 days during the year. The actual earnings of the ship were Rs. 1,045-4-0.

TELEGRAPH LAND LINES.

19. Mekran Coast Line.—The total lengths on the 31st March 1915 were 632·60 miles of line and 1,265·20 miles of wire, showing increases of ·67 miles of line and 1·34 miles of wire due to a diversion in the Gwadur Sub-Division.

20. Baluchistan Line.—The total lengths of the Karachi-Bela-Panjgur-Nok Kondi line on the 31st March 1915 were 485·09 miles of line and 1,099·86 miles of wire, being the same as last year.

21. The total interruptions (i.e., simultaneous interruptions to both wires) on the Mekran land line wires during the year amounted to 51 hours 30 minutes. The Baluchistan line was not interrupted during the year.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPH STATIONS.

22. At the close of the year the Public Works Department had commenced work on the permanent buildings required for the wireless telegraph stations to be opened at Henjam, Bahrein, and Koweit.

General Remarks.

23. At the outbreak of the Turkish war, Mr. H. D. Thoy, the Officer in charge of the Fao Telegraph Office, cleverly outwitted the Turks. He succeeded in having an important telegram, which they had stopped, delivered to H.M.S. "Odin," then lying below Fao at the mouth of the Shatt-el-Arab. For this service Mr. Thoy received, at the hands of the Viceroy, the Kaiser-i-i-Hind medal, 2nd class. On the 3rd November 1914 the Turks cut the Fao-Bushire cable close to Fao, seized the telegraph office, made the staff prisoners and carried them away to Basra. There they remained prisoners till the 27th November, when they were released by the seizure of Basra by the British forces under General Barrett. While detained as prisoners at Basra the staff received hospitality and assistance from Mr. Y. A. Dervichyan, the Belgian Consul, for which the British Government has thanked the Belgian Government. The Bushire-Fao cable was repaired on the 16th November 1914, and the repair of the Turkish line towards Basra was undertaken. Offices were opened at Basra on the 2nd December and at Kurna on the 31st January 1915, the total length of the Turkish line which had been repaired by that date being 107 miles. By the end of the year it was seen that the telegraph work in connection with the military operations would outstrip the resources of this Department, and assistance was sought from the Indian Telegraph Department. At the end of March 1915, Mr. E. L. Bagshawe, a superintendent of that Department, was appointed Assistant Director of Telegraphs, Force "D," and a large staff of men for office and line work was being sent up by the Director-General of Posts and Telegraphs in India.

PERSIAN SECTION.

Telegraph Land Lines.

24. Arabistan Telegraph Lines.—The reconstruction of the telegraph lines in Arabistan, which was commenced in the previous year, was completed in the year under review, with the exception of the short section, 36 miles in length, from Shuster to Dizful. Work on this section had to be abandoned owing to the approach of hostile Turkish forces and to the inability of the Persian Government to afford adequate protection to the working party. The Convention regarding these lines has not yet passed the Persian Medjlis.

25. Teheran-Ardistan Line.—In the autumn of 1914, a third wire was erected on the Teheran-Ardistan section of the Central Persia Line at a cost of Rs. 47,173. At the same time the Central Persia line wires, which formerly passed Koom without entering the office, were taken into it by means of a short loop.

26. Seistan-Robat Line.—In September and October 1914, a telegraph line composed of light iron posts and carrying one wire was erected from Seistan to Hormak on the Central Persia Line, and a wire was added to the existing line from Hormak to the Indian frontier. Seistan was thus telegraphically connected to Robat. The Convention for the line has not yet been signed by the Persian Government.

27. Teheran-Meshed Line.—This line is the property of the Persian Government, but is maintained by the Indo-European Telegraph Department. It is 568 miles in length. It was totally interrupted for 110 hours. On the section carrying two wires between Teheran and Shahrud there were interruptions of one wire or the other lasting 309 hours. The total number of interruptions was 14, of which 8 were due to malice.

28. The faults from all causes, including contacts between the wires, during the past three years, have been :—

29. Wilful Damage.—451 acts of wilful damage were reported during the year, on the two sections, being 1,038 less than last year. They were distributed along the line as follows :—

7th . . .	Bam to Indian Frontier	221	49	32

The amount claimed from the Persian Government for damages on the Teherana-Bushire section was Krans 6,050·00,* to which must be added the balance outstanding from last year, bringing the total due up to Krans 53,645·25. Of this sum, Krans 30,000 were received from the Persian Government on account, leaving a balance outstanding of Krans 23,645 25.

General Remarks.

30. The general condition of the country districts through which the telegraph lines pass remained unsatisfactory, but the interruptions due to malice were less numerous than in previous years During the latter months of the year German intrigue in Persia was being very actively carried on.

* 3½ Krans = 1 Rupee approximately.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 15th January 1916.

Burma.—No rain fell during the week. Reaping of winter rice has been practically completed. Threshing and winnowing continue. Agricultural operations for spring rice and for miscellaneous crops are proceeding normally. Standing crops are generally doing well. Pasturage is ample. Cattle are healthy. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon has risen to Rs. 102 per hundred baskets and is slightly above normal. The market for white rice is firm.

Assam.—The weather was seasonable and generally favourable for standing crops. Light rain fell in some districts. Harvesting of winter rice is nearing completion and its outturn is fair. Ploughing of land for rice and jute, pressing of sugarcane, plucking of cotton and hoeing and pruning of tea are in progress. Harvesting of mustard and pulses has commenced. Preparation of land for jhum cultivation in hill districts continues. The price of common rice has fallen slightly. Cattle disease is reported from seven districts and insufficiency of fodder from two.

Bengal.—No rain fell during the week. Harvesting of winter paddy is still proceeding. Cutting of sugarcane is in progress and pressing has also begun. The spring cereals and potatoes are being harvested. The condition and prospects of the standing spring crops are fairly satisfactory. Distress continues to prevail in Bankura and in the Brahmanbaria sub-division of the Tippera district. Relief measures are being continued. Cattle disease is reported from two districts. The average price of common rice for the Province has fallen by about 0·5 per cent as compared with that of the previous week.

The report on scarcity is as follows :—In the Bankura district distress is increasing but the condition of the people and the state of affairs in the affected areas continue unchanged. Private charitable funds are giving assistance. The price of rice is 8 seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief works was 5,106 and on gratuitous relief 11,987, total 17,093. The number of persons relieved on private works was 1,127. In the Tippera district labourers and small cultivators are the most affected. There is no emaciation. Relief measures are adequate. The distribution of loans continues. Cases of cholera are reported but they are not more numerous than is usual at this season. The price of rice is 8 seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief works was 1,623 and on gratuitous relief 5,600, total 7,223.

Bihar and Orissa.—The week was rainless. Harvesting of paddy has been nearly completed. Pressing of sugarcane continues. Harvesting of early oilseeds has commenced in some places. Standing crops are doing well. The average price of common rice has remained almost stationary as compared with that of the preceding week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from twelve districts. The attendance of persons on test works in Manbhum was 381 and in Singhbhum 1,999. Gratuitous relief was given to 591 persons in Manbhum. The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is good.

United Provinces.—The week was rainless. The demand for rain in the north and west of the Provinces is becoming more insistent. Irrigation and weeding of spring crops and of poppy and pressing of and preparation of land for sugarcane are still in progress. Standing crops are generally doing well but damage from drought is beginning to be reported from unirrigated tracts in the western districts. The condition of agricultural stock is good. Little cattle disease is reported. Fodder and water are everywhere sufficient but the former is still dear in a few western districts. The market supplies are ample. Prices are practically stationary.

Punjab.—The weather was generally dry. Picking of cotton has been completed with yield generally normal on irrigated and below normal on unirrigated areas. Pressing of sugarcane continues in some districts with yield generally normal. The condition of standing spring crops on irrigated areas is average to good but unirrigated crops are withering for want of rain which is urgently needed everywhere. Toria is being harvested with yield generally normal. Cattle are generally healthy but are becoming weak owing to scarcity of fodder in the south, east and west. Water for drinking and canal irrigation is generally sufficient. Prices are generally stationary but are rising slightly in some districts owing to the absence of rain and range between warning and above scarcity rates. Price of wheat :— Ambala 8¼, Rawalpindi 8½, Lahore 8¾, Ferozepore 9 and Lyallpur 9½ seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—The week was again rainless. Rain is badly wanted throughout the Province. The weather is cold and at times cloudy. The condition of standing crops on irrigated areas is average and on unirrigated lands poor in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan. Sowings of sugarcane are in progress in the Bannu tahsil. Pressing of sugarcane is proceeding and its outturn is reported to be average in the Peshawar district and below average in the Bannu tahsil. Cattle are generally in good condition except in the Lakki tahsil of the Bannu district. Fodder is procurable but it is reported to be insufficient in the Nowshera tahsil of the Peshawar district and in the unirrigated tracts of the Lakki tahsil. Water is scarce in the unirrigated tracts of the Lakki tahsil and in some villages in the Dera Ismail Khan district. The public health is good. Prices are high and stationary in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan. In Bannu prices of wheat, gram and barley are rising slightly.

Jammu.—No rain fell during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 8 to 11 and maize from 11 to 20 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in the Ramnagar, Basoli and Kotli tahsils. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—No snow or rain fell during the week. Standing crops are badly in need of water. Cattle are generally healthy. Fodder is insufficient in Baramula. Water is unequal to the demand. Prices are rising.

Rajputana.—The weather is generally cool and clear. Irrigation and weeding of spring crops are in progress. Standing crops on wet areas are in good condition. Rain is badly needed in Bikaner, Kotah, Jhalawar, Dholpur, Bharatpur, Alwar and Ajmer-Merwara. Pasturage and fodder are scarce everywhere except in Jaisalmere, Sirohi, Shahpura, Banswara, Partabgarh and Dholpur. The condition of cattle is poor in Marwar, Mewar, Dungarpur, Banswara, Kotah, Jaipur, Kishangarh, Karauli, Alwar and Ajmer and is generally fair elsewhere. Prices are falling in Marwar and Shahpura, rising in Jaisalmere, Mewar, Dungarpur and Jaipur and stationary elsewhere. The number of persons on test works in Merwara was 935 and in Karauli 232.

Central India.—No rain fell during the week. Rain has been insufficient in Gwalior and in the Mehidpur and Rampura-Bhanpura districts of the Indore State and sufficient elsewhere. Harvesting of autumn crops is in progress in Bhopal. Cotton picking has been nearly finished in Indore and is in progress in Malwa. Sugarcane is being pressed in Gwalior. Sowings of spring crops have been completed in Gwalior and Bundelkhand. Irrigation has commenced in the Southern States and is in progress almost everywhere. Standing crops are in good condition throughout. Agricultural stock is generally in good condition except for cattle disease in the Tarana, Rampura, Nandwai, and Kannod parganas of the Indore State and in parts of Dhar and Barwani in the Southern States. The fodder supply is fair in Malwa and sufficient elsewhere. Prices are high in Baghelkhand, normal in Bhopal, slightly fluctuating in the Indore State and steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—No rain fell during the week. The weather continues to be clear and cool with occasional slight cloud. Harvesting, threshing and winnowing of autumn crops and picking of cotton are proceeding. Spring crops are in good condition but winter rains are now wanted. Fodder and water are ample and cattle are healthy. Prices remained practically stationary, showing a few slight irregular fluctuations.

Feudatory States :—Prospects of spring crops are generally favourable. There are no marked fluctuations in prices.

Bombay.—Standing crops are generally in good condition but have been damaged by disease in two talukas of Kaira and by winds in three talukas of Bijapur. Harvesting of autumn crops is progressing in the Presidency Proper. Cotton picking continues in Hyderabad, Thar and Parkar, Nawabshah, Gujarat, Khandesh, Ahmednagar, Baroda and Rewa Kantha. The fodder supply is deficient in parts of Karachi, Larkana, Hyderabad, Thar and Parkar, Cutch, Kathiawar and Baroda. Agricultural stock is sufficient. Cattle are in good condition except in parts of Karachi, Larkana and Hyderabad. Drinking water is generally adequate. Water for irrigation is deficient in parts of Kaira and Ahmedabad. Prices of food grains have risen slightly in Gujarat, Sind and the Konkan and are generally steady elsewhere.

Hyderabad.—No rain fell during the week. Autumn cotton and castor seeds are being picked. Early rice is being harvested in a few parts. Spring crops are generally in fair to good condition and are being harvested in a few places but they have been damaged by rats in parts of the Usmanabad district. Late rice lands are being prepared and sown. The crop is in good condition and is being weeded in places. Cattle disease prevails in four talukas. Prices of grains are constant. The highest price of juar in districts is 8 seers per rupee in Nalgonda and the lowest 24 seers per rupee in Adilabad.

Mysore.—No rain fell during the week. The price of ragi has fallen in Bangalore and Shimoga and that of rice in Tumkur. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are generally in good condition. The outturn of the harvested paddy and sugarcane is good and that of ragi, horsegram, groundnut and cotton is fair. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Agricultural prospects are good. Picking of coffee and reaping of rice continue. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Fodder for cattle is sufficient.

Madras.—No rain fell during the week. Standing crops are in fair to good condition generally but are withering or require more rain in parts of five districts. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops is proceeding with outturn fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops are proceeding or are being completed normally. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water supply is sufficient except in parts of Anantapur, South Arcot, Madura, Tinnevelly and the central parts except Coimbatore. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of four districts. Fodder is available except in parts of three districts. Prices are stationary.

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

The book has been published by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and copies are now procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There are two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and a very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited, and a considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Government Printing, India, Calcutta.

IMPORTS INTO CHIEF PORTS DURING OCTOBER 1915

RETURN SHOWING the QUANTITIES of the PRINCIPAL STAPLES of AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE IMPORTED into CALCUTTA, BOMBAY, KARACHI and MADRAS PORTS BY RAIL, RIVER and SEA during OCTOBER 1915

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA

G. FINDLAY SHIRRAS,
Director of Statistics.

Published by order of the Governor-General in Council

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN SELECTED ARTICLES IN OCTOBER 1915.

The object of the tables below is to show the quantities of the principal staples of agricultural produce imported from the various provinces, etc., and from foreign countries into the ports of Calcutta, Bombay, Karachi, and the Madras ports during the month of October 1915, and for the seven months April to October 1915, as compared with the corresponding periods of 1914. The statistics include foreign seaborne and coasting trade as well as inland (rail and riverborne) trade. They have been furnished by Collectors of Customs, Steamer Companies, Railway Audit Officers, the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, etc.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN OCTOBER 1914 AND 1915.

It will be seen from Table I, that the imports by rail, river and sea in October 1915, as against the corresponding month of 1914 show (in round numbers) an increase of—

603 per cent in raw cotton.
(202,800 bales as against 28,800 bales last year.)
135 per cent in linseed.
(7,500 tons as against 3,200 tons last year.)
76 per cent in rape and mustard seed.
(11,600 tons as against 6,600 tons last year.)
50 per cent in jute.
(820,600 bales as against 548,300 bales last year.)
36 per cent in gram and pulse.
(34,200 tons as against 25,200 tons last year.)
3 per cent in rice.
(94,600 tons as against 91,400 tons last year.)

The imports of wheat (excluding wheat flour) by rail, river and sea into ports show a fall of 49 per cent (34,200 tons as against 67,200 tons last year) due mainly to smaller receipts from the Punjab to Karachi. The decrease of 11 per cent (33,825,700 lbs as against 37,885,900 lbs last year) in the imports of tea into Calcutta is due mainly to smaller despatches from Bengal.

It will be seen from Table III (wheat, excluding wheat flour) that the principal sources of the imports in October 1914 were (in order of importance) the Punjab, the United Provinces and Sind and British Baluchistan. Table X shows the exports out of India of wheat (including wheat flour) month by month during the last four years.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN OCTOBER 1915 AS COMPARED WITH THE PREVIOUS MONTH.

As compared with September 1915, the imports in October 1915 into the ports referred to above show (in round numbers) an increase of—

42 per cent in rice.
(94,600 tons as against 66,400 tons previous month.)
13 per cent in jute.
(820,600 bales as against 725,400 bales previous month.)
2 per cent in gram and pulse.
(34,200 tons as against 33,600 tons previous month.)

and a decrease of—

59 per cent in linseed.
(7,500 tons as against 18,600 tons previous month.)
37 per cent in wheat (excluding wheat flour.)
(34,200 tons as against 54,000 tons previous month.)
5 per cent in rape and mustard seed.
(11,600 tons as against 12,200 tons previous month.)
3 per cent in tea.
(33,825,700 lbs as against 34,818,200 lbs previous month.)

NOTE.—400 lbs. are equivalent to 1 bale of cotton or jute.
82⅔ lbs are equivalent to 1 maund.
1 maund of paddy is taken as equivalent to 25 seers of rice.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN SEVEN MONTHS ENDING OCTOBER 1914 AND 1915.

Table I shows an increase in the seven months' figures of jute (140·6 per cent), gram and pulse (34·3 per cent), tea (14·7 per cent), rice, including paddy (13·6 per cent), raw cotton (7·6 per cent). and wheat, excluding wheat flour (4·5 per cent). Other articles show a decrease, viz., 35 per cent in linseed, and 4 per cent in rape and mustard seed.

Exports of linseed to ports from the province of Bihar and Orissa fell off by 68,000 tons, from Bengal by 13,000, from the United Provinces by 11,000, from the Nizam's Territory by 4,000 and from Assam by 1,000. The despatches of rape and mustard seed from Bihar and Orissa decreased by 18,000 tons, from Assam by 13,000, from Bombay by 3,000, from the Central Provinces and Berar by 1,000, and from Madras by 1,000.

The Statistics for October 1915 as also for the seven months ending 31st October 1915, are summarised below:—
